TOGETHER OF SHORT COURSE

Farmers of Rush County and Business Men Asked to Meet Monday Afternoon at 2 O'clock.

G. M. FRIER WILL BE HERE

Purdue Representative Will See if There is Enough Interest Here to Hold Course.

A meeting of farmers living in Rushville and elsewhere in the county and business men will be held in the court house assembly room Monday afternoon at two o'clock to hear a proposal to bring the Purdue Farmers' Short Course here this winter.

It will be recalled that arrangements had practically been completed to hold a short course here last winter, but at the last moment the Purdue authorities called off all short courses because of the foot and mouth disease which was epidemic in Indiana last winter.

G. M. Frier, who is in charge of the short course work of the Purdue extension department, will arrive here Monday about noon for the purpose of outlining the work that will be necessary to hold a short course here.

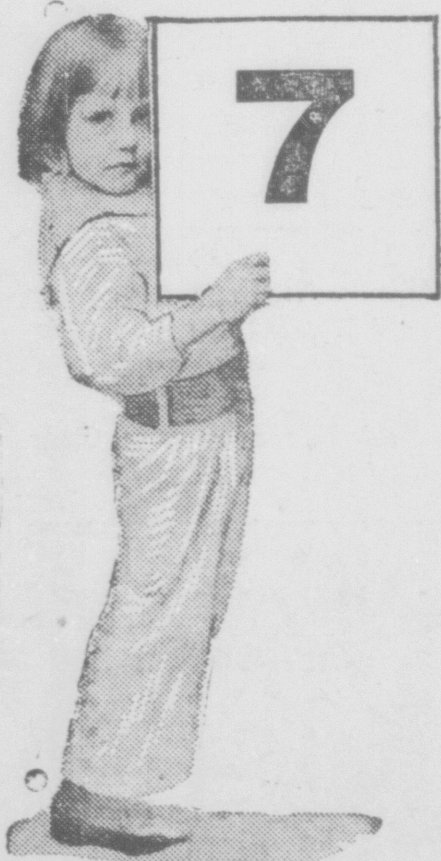

It is urged that every farmer and business man who is the least bit interested in the project attend the meeting to show the interest that is felt in such an undertaking in Rush county.

The Chamber of Commerce, with the aid of farmers, will undertake to land the short course for the county, realizing the immense value of such a school of instruction. The Chamber of Commerce has been in correspondence for some time with Mr. Frier urging that he come here and put the proposition up to the people of the county.

Because of the heavy demand for short courses and the limited number of them which can be held, Mr. Frier has to be certain that there is a real demand for a short course before he will grant any given county a date. For that reason it is expressly urged that all those who feel any interest whatever in the undertaking attend the meeting Monday afternoon.

It will be recalled that the farmers short course would have taken place here last February. Plans were being formulated when the foot and mouth disease hit Indiana live stock. Because the attention of the Purdue authorities was needed to

The choir of the church will meet with Mr. Saunders tonight at seven o'clock at the church to prepare for the special meetings.

JUDGE WAS NOT ON THE BENCH TODAY

Argument Started in Richmond Case he is Hearing, Friday Afternoon and Continued Today.

MAY GET HERE BY MONDAY

A change in plans late yesterday prevented Judge Sparks from coming home from Richmond and holding court here today. It was at first thought that the closing arguments in the case there would not start until Monday, but instead of this the argument started yesterday and today Judge Sparks hoped to see the end of the case.

Judge Sparks sent word to Clerk Taylor that he would be on the bench here Monday. From this it was taken that the Richmond case would go to the jury this afternoon. One or two divorces were on the program here for today, but they were carried over until later in the term. Judge Sparks has been adjourning court in Richmond on Friday evening, but with a chance of finishing the case he determined to push it through today.

Mr. Steele is remembered here by many people especially in Walker township where he was born and reared. He left here, together with his family, in 1881 going to the gas belt, and finally located in Elwood, where he had since resided. He was the father of Charles Steele, the well known road contractor of Wilkinson. He is survived by his widow and six children. The funeral services will be conducted Sunday at the late residence in Elwood and burial will take place there.

CHRIST LIVES IN BREAD AND WINE

Father Conway Explains Catholic Doctrines of Lord's Supper Friday Night.

QUOTES SOME AUTHORITIES

Says Christ Spoke Literally When He Said "This is My Body; This is my Blood."

Christ spoke literally and not figuratively and thereby established the Lord's Supper when he said: "This is my body; this is my blood," was the assertion of the Rev. Bertrand Conway, Paulist priest, at St. Mary's Catholic church Friday night. He also declared that Christ exists and is present in the bread and wine.

A large crowd was out last night to hear Father Conway, who is giving a series of lectures here this week for the benefit of Catholics and non-Catholics alike.

In response to requests, Father Conway's subject tonight will be "Marriage and Divorce" instead of "The Sacrifice of the Mass." The concluding lecture will be given Sunday evening when Father Conway will deliver an address on the subject "Why I Am a Catholic."

The services Sunday evening will be marked by a great deal of ceremony, as is customary at the closing of the Forty Hours Devotion in honor of the Blessed Sacrament.

The lectures have furnished, it is stated, perhaps the most brilliant exposition of the Catholic teaching which St. Mary's church has ever enjoyed. The attendance of non-Catholics has been large, seemingly on Friday night, it is said, outnumbering the members of the congregation. Some Protestant ministers have been in attendance during the week.

On the subject of the "Catholic Doctrine of the Lord's Supper," Father Conway said:

"The doctrine of the real presence of Jesus Christ in the Holy Eucharist has always been the most treasured possession of the Catholic church. By it she ever proclaims to the world what Jesus, her divine founder, is ever living on her altars, calling upon His people to visit Him in their needs, to beg His intercession in the daily sacrifice of the mass, and to unite themselves to Him by the closest possible bond between God and man, the Holy communion."

"The teaching of our church on the Real Presence is clearly set forth in the council of Trent, which assembled in the sixteenth century chiefly for the purpose of combating the errors of the day on the Eucharist. It decreed: 'This holy synod teaches, and openly and simply professes, that in the august sacrament of the holy Eucharist, after the consecration of the bread and wine, our Lord Jesus Christ, true God and true Man, is truly really and substantially contained under the species (or appearances) of these sensible things.'

"The Catholic church, taking its stand on the words of Christ: 'This is My Body; This is My Blood,' declares that the Lord is truly there under what appears to be bread and what appears to be wine; that he is not present symbolically, figuratively or representatively, but really; he is also present substantially, the word substance meaning a distinct, self-complete, existing nature, in which various qualities in here, and which is distinct from these qualities."

"In the sixth chapter of St. John's gospel, Jesus said to the Jews: 'The bread, that I will give is my flesh for

RECEIPTED BILL SPOILS STORY

Marshall Spurrier Receives Whiskey Statement Marked Paid at County Jail Today.

IT DISCREDITS HIS TALE

Is Sent to Jail For Thirty Days For Drunkenness and "Blind Tiger" Charge May be Filed Yet.

After conducting the court of inquiry Friday afternoon in an effort to learn who was the operator of the "blind tiger" at the home of Robert Johnson, colored, the police and prosecutor knew about as much about the affair as they did before they started. Marshall Spurrier, Earl Green and Mrs. Johnson were all witnesses before the court and all told such widely different stories that the police were up a stump as to whom they should believe.

Spurrier drew a fine of one dollar and costs and thirty days in jail on an intoxication charge and it is more than likely that the "blind tiger" charge will be placed against him. The evidence that he was responsible for the whiskey being in the Johnson home was strengthened this morning when he received a receipt from the James R. Ross and Co., wholesale liquor dealers in Indianapolis for the payment of three gallons of whiskey at a total cost of $7.95.

Spurrier testified yesterday at the court of inquiry that he brought the whiskey here from Connerville and that he and Johnson intended taking it to College Corner, Ohio, with them Monday. The letter received this morning from the Indianapolis firm was delivered to Spurrier at the county jail and he in turn handed it over to Sheriff Cavitt. When confronted by this evidence this morning by Prosecutor Stevens, Spurrier admitted that he had lied in police court yesterday afternoon and stated that the receipted bill was for the whiskey which had been found at the Johnson home and which had been received by express Wednesday evening.

Earl Green told the police that he boarded at the Johnson home and that he knew nothing of the whiskey until Spurrier asked him to have a drink. He was released from jail this morning as the authorities believed they had no case against him.

Prosecutor Stevens stated that there was no hurry about filing a charge against Spurrier as he would be in jail for a total of 41 days on the fine received yesterday. The neighbors of the Johnson family have made numerous complaints to the police and the officers are anxious to get the right man before proceeding with the case. Johnson is expected home tonight from College Corner where he is working for Wilk & Co., and he will be asked to tell what he knows of the case.

Yesterday the principals were arraigned separately and their stories were nothing alike, leaving the police to believe that the whole bunch was not telling the truth.

FAMILY AFFAIRS SETTLED

Thomas Alsmann and His Sister-in-Law Are Fined.

The troubles of Thomas Alsmann, his wife and sister-in-law, Miss Flora Williams, which have been aired recently in police court, were settled last night, when Alsmann pleaded guilty to assault on Miss Williams and was fined one dollar and costs. Miss Williams also pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to obey a summons and received a fine of $10 and costs. In settling the case it was agreed that Miss Williams should stay away from the Alsmann home in the future. Action on another charge against her was suspended, pending her good behavior.

ATHENS SITUATION IS HIGHLY CRITICAL

Stories Current of Military Plots. Threats of Revolution and Wholesale Arrests.

PLANS ARE CHANGED RAPIDLY

Paris, Nov. 6. The Athens situation was highly critical and uncertain this afternoon. Definite news was not obtainable. Against London dispatches asserting Premier Zamais would remain in office and reorganize his cabinet and that parliament would be dissolved, an Athens message received here asserted that what the outcome would be was uncertain. A third account was that Zamais had refused to reconstruct the cabinet.

The general opinion here was that pressure and counter pressure by the Germanic forces and Entente allies were producing alternate effects and that the Greek government leaders themselves were changing plans as rapidly as they made them.

Stories were current of military plots, threats of revolution and wholesale political arrests.

KITCHENER GOES TO WAR FRONT

Official Declaration in London Means War Ministers Will Take Charge of Allies Operations.

RUMORED THAT HE RESIGNED

Lord Derby, Author of Scheme Used in Place of Conscription, Favored for the Place.

(By United Press.)

London, Nov. 6.—Official admission was made here tonight that Lord Kitchener had left for the front.

It was stated that "at the request of his colleagues Lord Kitchener has left for the eastern theater of war."

The official statement was considered equal to a declaration that Lord Kitchener is to take command of the allies operation in the new war theater.

Few believe Kitchener will return to the war office. That he handed his resignation to King George but that it was refused is asserted by the Globe.

"There is an unpleasant obscurity about the whole business," said the Globe. "Lord Haldane is credited with the conviction that he would fill the war office post adequately, but we most sincerely hope that the error as to give it to him would instantly jeopardize the life of the government."

Haldane who was Lord High Chancellor in the Liberal cabinet which preceded the present coalition ministry was dropped out when the reorganization was effected because the public viewed him as a pro-German.

Lord Derby, author of the scheme for stimulating voluntary army enlistment in place of conscription is favored in some quarters for Kitchener's place.

the life of the world.' the Jews at once understood him literally, for they answered: 'How can this man give us His flesh to eat?' Had they understood him, he would have corrected their mistake. But as they were right in taking him literally, he repeats his teaching, saying: 'Amen, Amen, I say unto you: Except you eat the flesh of the Son of Man, and drink of His blood, you shall not have life in you.' He tells his hearers that eating His flesh and drinking His blood is a pledge of everlasting life, a real true eating and drinking, means of intimate union with Himself, a proof of supernatural life, and an earnest of immortality. 'He that eateth My flesh and drinketh My blood, hath everlasting life; I will raise him up on the last day. For My flesh is meat indeed; and My blood is drink indeed. He that eateth my flesh and drinketh my blood abideth in Me and I in him. As the Father hath sent Me, and I live by the Father, so he that eateth Me, shall live by Me. This is the bread that came down from heaven. He that eateth this bread shall live forever.'

"When some present declared that this doctrine was hard and revolting, he did not explain it away, and assure them that he referred only to a symbolical eating and drinking. On the contrary, He pities their blindness, and says to the disciples: 'Does this scandalize you?' Do you find this hard to believe? What would you say if you saw me ascend into heaven before your eyes? Set aside for the moment your merely natural judgment and reason, for these things are spiritually examined and known; use your faith and spiritual insight; accept this mystery on My word, even though you do not see how it will be brought to pass. 'It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing; the words that I have spoken to you are spirit and life.' These last words have no reference whatever, as some of our non-Catholic brethren have taught, to any distinction between the literal and figurative, as one can readily see by looking up their use in other parts of sacred scripture.

"There are four accounts of the institution of the holy Eucharist: Matt. 26, 26; Mark 14, 22; Luke 22, 19; 1 Cor. 11, 23. In all the words 'This is My Body, This is My Blood,' are identical; in all we find the cup called 'the blood of the Testament' or 'The New Testament'; all speak of communion, for they either read with St. Matthew, 'Take and eat' and 'Drink you all of this,' or with St. Luke, 'He gave to them' for the purpose of eating and drinking.

"If we try to get away from the controversies of the past, and look carefully into the question, we see at once that this was not a time for our Savior to talk in figures and parables."

KING RISKS A REVOLUTION

Constantine of Greece Takes Big Chance With Odds Against Him to Prevent War

ZAMAIAS TO STAY IN OFFICE

Ex-Premier Venizelos, Leader of War Party, Will be Asked to Join The Cabinet

(By United Press.)

London, Nov. 6.—Constantine of Greece has risked revolution to avoid going to war.

Premier Zamais, head of the Greek neutrality cabinet is to remain in office, a dispatch from Athens stated today. Parliament will be dissolved the message stated.

Zamais will try to reconstruct his ministry. Its old members will be retained, the message said, but two new ones will be added. It is taken for granted that these will be representatives of the war party. Probably one of them will be Ex-premier Venizelos, head of the war party, if he can be persuaded to accept.

That he will do so is considered very doubtful, however. In fact it is questioned if any men at all prominent in the pro-war group will consent to take portfolios in the new cabinet which will be overwhelmingly anti-war.

The king's plan is to endeavor to satisfy the war element by giving it ministerial representation but deprive it of any real power by keeping it in a hopeless minority.

Bryan's Threatening

Those Democrats who had hoped that the trouble between President Wilson and Former Secretary of State Bryan would not reach a crisis may rest assured that if it is left to Mr. Bryan, the president's seat will be a warm place for Mr. Wilson to sit. Although Bryan does not question the president's motives he makes it plain that he will not stop short of even creating a serious division in the ranks of Democracy over the question of war preparedness.

Although he has been discredited on numerous occasions, Wm. Jennings Bryan can still command a large following. And there are doubtless many people in the United States who believe just as Mr. Bryan does regarding preparedness.

The only difference between the ex-secretary of state and the president is that Bryan is consistent and Wilson is not. The Democratic party has always been unalterably opposed to a big navy and a bigger army. With the control of the national legislative body passing into the hands of a Democratic majority, we have seen the bigger navy program instituted and kept up by former Republican congresses, give way to grape juice diplomacy. But when the time of stress comes, the president as leader of his party, comes forth with enormous plans of enlarging the army and navy, calling for an outlay of approximately five billions of dollars.

On that score, Mr. Bryan has a shade the better of Mr. Wilson. He can go steadfastly on and fight the preparedness program and not be attacked for any inconsistency. But the president will have to admit that his party has been wrong in the past.

President Wilson, however, need not worry about explaining away inconsistencies. He pledged himself in his campaign for the election to allow American coast-wise shipping vessels free tolls in the Panama canal and exactly reversed his position after he was elected.

Loyalty Pays a Dividend

We read much in the public press today of "loyalty to our country."

It is well, for if any men on earth has reason to feel loyal to his country for benefits conferred, that man is the American citizen.

We have a community here in which any people might feel a just pride, and we have a people wholly on a par with the community, though there are times when we are neglectful of our interests and unmindful of the disintegrating consequences which invariably ensue.

Loyalty always pays its dividend but loyalty to home and home people pays a double dividend.

Let us be loyal to country by all means, but let us be doubly loyal to our home people and our home institutions, for it is by this means only that we may thrive, and flourish and grow as a collective unit in the marts of the world.

Morton, Republican Standard Bearer

Morton was a delegate to the Pittsburg preliminary convention, February 22, 1856, which in a sense marked the birth of the National Republican party. The name Republican was gradually assumed in Indiana as in other northern states as the name of the new party. At its state convention, May 1st, Morton was nominated Governor by acclamation amid much enthusiasm. He was then but 33 years old. His opponent was Ashbel P. Willard. The men differed very much as did Lincoln and Douglas, in style of oratory and mental processes and character. After a heated campaign, Willard was selected by a majority of 6,000. As in the Lincoln-Douglas is due two years later, Morton's defeat was the stepping stone to his crowning success.

ALARMED ABOUT FURTHER LOSS

Administration Officials Fear That Revenue Decrease Will Cause Embarrassment.

CASE OF TRUST COMPANIES

Several Bring Suit and Others Follow to Recover "War Tax" Paid Government.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Administration officials are alarmed at the possibility of a further loss of revenue.

Some months ago certain trust companies brought suit to recover amounts paid by them under the "war tax" law. Their example was followed by others, until at the present time practically every dollar paid by the trust companies under the "war tax" law is involved in litigation.

The first of these cases is set for trial before December 1. It is apparent that the administration is by no means confident of the integrity of the law Congress enacted, for additional counsel has been employed to aid government attorneys in defending the suits. It is said that unusually large retainers have been paid on both sides for legal advice.

The litigation is particularly vexatious to the government because Congress laid the foundation for it by a stupid blunder. The tax involved is levied under section 3 of the "war tax" law referring to banks and bankers. At the time it was passed federal courts had already declared that a statute identical in terms, so far as trust companies were concerned, with the present law, was insufficient to make trust companies liable for the tax imposed.

It is said that if Congress had exercised ordinary caution and drafted the "war tax" law so that it should not conflict with a precedent already established by federal court, the litigation could have been avoided. By carelessly neglecting this elementary principle, Congress virtually gave the trust companies a mortgage on all the revenue they have paid, which they may foreclose by judicial procedure.

A decision adverse to the government would be unusually embarrassing at this time. In the first place, it would mean a further shrinkage in revenues directly due to Democratic carelessness. The treasury deficit long ago assured ugly proportions, and additional leakages would be damaging, both financially and politically.

Furthermore, it is proposed to immediately reenact the "war tax" law, which automatically expires December 31, 1915. The places the administration on the two horns of a dilemma. If the paragraph by which trust companies are taxed is amended, it is a confession of error. But if it is reenacted without amendment, and the courts later decide against the validity of the law, a large sum in revenues will be lost. "By their fruits ye shall know them."

The administration has proposed a program of legislation for national defense that calls for the highest de-

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—James Watson of Rushville spoke to the Indianapolis Jovian League at the Hotel Severin in this city at noon today. Just what the Jovian League has to say to the traveling men is being kept a secret. "They are the life of trade," said J. D. Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Football fans in Indiana refused to get excited today over the prospects of exciting or important games within the state. The few who went with the Indiana squad to Columbus, O.,
however, looked for a real contest between evenly matched teams. The game will not figure in the Conference race however, except to help fix
their relative positions.

De Pauw's fast-scoring team
came here expecting to run up a big lead on Butler. Earlham went to Franklin and probably to defeat.
Little hope was at hand on the Winona-Rose game though the latter was believed the stronger. Wabash was expected to demonstrate its strength again by beating Northwestern college.

With Butler, Earlham and Franklin already eliminated from the secondary college race, the games today had little significance.

OUT FOR REVENGE

Columbus, Ohio, November 6.—
The Crimson team from Bloomington, Ind., came here today with stern intent to wipe out the beating given it last year by Ohio State at Ind.

ianapolis when the Buckeyes won 13 to 3. All hope had it that the Hoosiers had an even chance to win.
Indiana is considered much stronger than last year when it finished last in the Conference and
Ohio finished fifth.

The foolish doxester figured today that Indiana should win. He showed these scores: Wisconsin beat Ohio
21 to 0, Chicago beat Wisconsin 14
to 13. Since Indiana held Chicago to a 7 to 0 score, Indiana should beat Ohio State.

EASY FOR DE PAUW

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Determined to run up a larger score against Butler than the 35 to 7 registered by Wabash last Saturday,
the De Pauw machine came here today stripped for action. Butler had no chance to win and little chance of a low score, it was believed.

WABASH SHOULD WIN

Crawfordsville, Ind., Nov. 6.—If Northwestern College out in Naperville, Ill., expects good news from
this town tonight, it will be disappointed, said local football fans. The game today will go to Wabash by a large group of touchdowns. Last year Wabash won 17 to 7, but Wabash this year is far stronger than last year.

BAPTISTS PLAY EARLHAM

Franklin, Ind., Nov. 6.—Franklin expected to win by more than one touchdown this afternoon when it
lined up against Earlham, but Coach Thurber had his men well drilled on the word "overconfidence." He well remembered the trouncing the Richmond crew gave Franklin last year.
The dope showed Franklin an easy
winner. Earlham was forced to extend herself to beat Hanover 16 to 6 while Franklin won up a score 74
to 0 on the downstaters.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
New York, Nov. 6.—In normal years there would be only one "big" game scheduled for today—the annual affair between Harvard and Princeton. But that was before the decline of Harvard, the demise of Yale and the general grand upsetting that has made 1915 the most weird season ever.

Today, for almost the first time in history, Harvard and Princeton must share spotlight honors with smaller and heretofore despised rivals. For the Pittsburgh-Washington and Jefferson game at Pittsburgh today is every bit as important as the Harvard-Princeton muss, and in some respects more so.

Four teams loom up as the cream of Eastern football endeavor this year—Princeton, Cornell, Pittsburgh and Washington and Jefferson. Only three of these will be left in the hunt after today, so in reality the Pennsylvania battle assumes a championship aspect. Pittsburgh has been declared by Walter Camp to have the best football team in the country this year; W. and J. proved that it also has a semblance of a football team by licking Yale, which even in the Blue's demoralized condition, is no easy task.
The scrap at Princeton, however,

will be every bit as hard fought as the other. Harvard is tottering on the brink of a football rout, and if her football team doesn't put up a grand fight to escape that fate it will be the first time in history that a Harvard team didn't. On the Tiger side, Princeton is almost on the top of the championship pole; a defeat
by Harvard would send her down again a lot faster than she came up
as in that event the championship
of the East would be shared by Cornell and the winner of the Pitt-W.
J. game. The incentive for fighting
certainly is there.

Today's tussle also should bring out a comparison of the two best kickers in the East this year—Eddie Mahan and Davy Tibbott, whose educated hoofs have alone brought victory to their respective institutions this year. Tibbott's toe has beaten Dartmouth and Syracuse this year, and Mahan booted Harvard to a victory over Virginia, one of the conquerors of Yale.

MARRIAGE OF YOUTH AND WAR

Captain Describes His Actions—One
Out of Twenty Can Tell
What Happens

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Paris, Oct. 2: (By Mail)—Once
in a while you strike a soldier who has seen something and can tell about it. He is the twentieth man.
With the others it is a jumble of yells and explosions and running
and falling and awakening in hospitals. A captain with a fractured thigh in a hospital here was one of the lucid ones. Said he:

"The Saturday morning of the advance everybody knew the assault
was to begin at 9:15. The artillery preparation had been wonderful and the men were really impatient to get away. You can't blame them either, for it is no fun holding your hands and waiting for a thing like that.

"Some of them lighted cigarettes which they rolled themselves with fingers that didn't tremble a particle.
Some lighted their pipes two minutes before the charge. There was a little joshing but the noise of the cannonade discouraged talk.
"Looking down the line I saw my
lieutenant drawing on his white kid gloves. He was very young and this was to be his first charge. He wanted to do it properly, in Saint—Cyril style. Had I been close enough
I would have ordered him to take them off. Hundreds of Saint Cyril cadets were mowed down at the beginning because they insisted on wearing white gloves. It was the "marriage of youth and war" and the grooms must needs be the gloved.

"As our previously regulated and compared time-pieces reached 9:15
my lieutenant struck a match, lit a cigarette and leaped forward out of the trench waving his men after him.
I leaped upon the parapet at the same instant, my men following me yelling something which was their effort to make "La Marseillaise"
sound above the guns.

"Men began to fall about me so I hurried the company forward into a little gully where we stopped a moment waiting for a lull. It was here that I learned of the death of
my lieutenant in the white gloves.
I rallied my men and started forward under a rain of machine-gun fire. A shell exploded so near that I was thrown off my feet, but nothing was broken so I went on. Then
a shrapnel ball pierced my thigh breaking the bone. The battle was over so far as I was concerned. It was only 9:30, too—15 minutes from the start. Rotten luck.

"I bound up my wound as best I could and waited under the greatest display of fire-works one ever saw, waited for the stretcher men.
Finally two came, but near me was one of my men with a bullet in his stomach, so I directed the men to take him. I told the men to come back for me—which they did at o'clock in the afternoon.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg
Breast Tea, or as the German folks
call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure
grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.
Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe
and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Rub Pain and Stiffness away with a small bottle of old honest
St. Jacobs Oil

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 25 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right
into the pain or ache, and by the time
you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing,
penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out of your back and ends the misery.
It is magical, yet absolutely harmless
and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly!

GOLD MINING

As Observed by a Tenderfoot from Indiana. The Magic Word "Gold" Looms up in Big Letters and Causes Many to Chase the Will-O'-the-Wisp.

—By J. Feudner.

For a month I have been sojourning (for my health) in Idaho Springs, a typical Colorado mountain town, 37 miles west of Denver, with a population of about 3,500 inhabitants—mostly miners and those following related occupations.

By reason of its location in Clear Creek canyon and nestling among a half dozen of the highest peaks of the Rampart range on each side of the creek, the town is not very wide, but to make up in size it is two miles long. Its altitude is 7,543 feet above sea level, and the mountains on each side of the town are from 1,000 to 2,000 feet higher.

It was here where in 1859, at the mouth of Chicago Creek, a wandering trapper made the first discovery of gold in the Rocky Mountains in paying quantities, and thus started the great gold rush of '59. The spot is marked by a monument along Chicago Creek, near where this creek empties into Clear Creek at Idaho Springs. The monument consists of a huge oblong boulder set upright on a concrete pedestal, with the following inscription on a metal plate:

"On this spot was made the discovery of gold in the Rocky Mountains by George A. Jackson, January 7th, 1859."

All along Clear Creek and also along its tributaries—Forks Creek, Elk Creek, Soda Creek, Chicago Creek, Fall River, etc., evidences can still be seen where the creek bottoms and adjacent banks were dug over by placer miners in the hunt for gold. About twenty years ago a lot of Chinamen worked the placer mines over for a second time making a living where the white man failed.

Two placer mines are still in operation in the bed of Clear Creek, a mile east of Idaho Springs, at one of which I saw actual "panning" of gold by two miners, and saw the "color" in the pans when all the other extraneous matter had been washed out.

Quartz mining has now taken the place of placer mining, and mines on the mountain sides between here and Georgetown and Silver Plume are everywhere in evidence. It is claimed that around Idaho Springs there are 300 gold and silver mines. A few miles north of the town, in Russell's Gulch, are the pitchblende mines of Quartz Hill, from which some of the richest radium ore yet discovered has been mined.

The mining map of Clear Creek county, in which Idaho Springs is located, and of which Georgetown is the county seat, is plastered all over with mining claims—most of which, however, are not being worked any more. Everywhere stand idle reduction mills, their machinery rusting, and many buildings dismantled, miners' cabins empty and in a dilapidated condition, plainly showing traces of past prosperous activities.

Georgetown, which, I was told, at one time had a population of 5,000, now has barely 1,000 inhabitants. Over half of the store buildings are empty with the windows nailed up, and the town has a deserted and dismal appearance.

I was informed that the stagnation of the mining industry, especially around Georgetown and Silver Plume, was caused by the low price of silver for the past few years, in consequence of which it did not pay to work the mines.

Idaho Springs, on the other hand, does not show this stagnation so plainly, having more producing mines in the immediate neighborhood. But another reason is that here at the foot of Santa Fe mountain are several thermal springs bubbling with radium gases and laden with medicinal minerals, around which has been built a large hotel, swimming pool, etc., where hot baths are given for rheumatism, etc., and this has transformed the place somewhat into a tourist town with many visitors during the summer season.

However, there is considerable mining activity shown here. At the east end of the town is the famous "Newhouse tunnel," said to be the greatest and longest mining tunnel in the world, which runs northward through the mountains for nearly five miles, tapping a rich mining field in

Gilpin county to the north. The ore is brought here through the tunnel in small ore cars drawn by an electric engine. The ore is treated here in the Argo Mill, located at the mouth of the tunnel, both the cyanide and stamp mill processes being used.

At the western end of the town is located the "Big Five" tunnel, which pierces the mountains for a mile and a half northward. The ore brought in through this tunnel is treated by the various reduction mills, of which there are five in Idaho Springs, running day and night and Sundays continuously.

Ore is also brought in to these mills by teams, and wagons hauling loads of from five to six tons of ore can continually be seen going through the town.

One of the peculiarities of mineral bearing ore is that the various minerals found—gold, silver, copper, iron, lead and some zinc—are embedded in the rock mostly in very fine specks or particles.

How these metals (all of them at times found in the same rock) got intermingled and became a part of the rock, is a mystery which I have not yet had time to investigate. I do not even know whether this question has been explained by geologists or mineralogists except by theoretical speculation.

The work of the reduction mills is to get rid of the rock and retain the particles of the metals. It would be too expensive to ship the ore, as it comes from the mines, to the smelters to have the metals extracted, hence these mills, which are usually located as close to the mines as possible, reduce the ore by various processes, and the resulting product is called "concentrate" which is then shipped to the smelters for final treatment and separation of the metals.

The processes used in reducing the ore are the "stamping," "flotation" and "cyanide" processes. Of late the flotation or oil process is being added to the stamp mills, and thus practically all or 90 per cent of the particles of the metals are retained.

The process of the stamp mill is as follows: The ore, as it comes from the mine, is run through crushers and is then slowly fed into the stamp mill. The stamps consist of heavy steel weights lifted by cams and then fall of their own weight. These stamps weigh from five to seven hundred pounds and their continuous falling crushes the rock to a fine powder. Water is run into the stamp box and the pulverized ore is carried off by the water and is run over a copper plate coated with quicksilver. This plate and the quicksilver catch the free gold, which is scraped off every twenty-four hours. The balance of the ore in solution is carried over large slightly inclined tables with shallow grooves and to which a shaking motion is given. The lighter particles of the ore are carried off in the water at the lowest side of the table, while the heavier parts, containing the metals, are shaken off at the end into settling boxes. The settlings are scooped out from time to time and this constitutes the so-called "concentrate."

The ore-containing water from the first series of tables is then run over another series and more but lighter concentrate is obtained.

Since the "oil" or "flotation" process has been added, the water which runs off the second series of tables, is mixed with a small quantity of oil and is then sent to agitators, which cause a foam to form on top of the water. This foam catches the light and floating particles of the metal. Mechanical skimmers skim this foam off into a trough washed by a water spray. The resultant product is a concentrate containing the finest particles of the precious metals.

In the cyanide process it is necessary that the cyanide, which dissolves the gold and silver, comes in contact with every particle of the metal. Since the metal is imbedded in the rock in fine particles, as stated before, it is necessary at the very beginning to crush and pulverize the ore as fine as flour. This pulverized ore mixed with water is carried to the cyanide tanks, containing a solution of two pounds of cyanide to a ton of water. The ore solution runs into the tank in the center, and as soon as it comes in contact with the cyanide, the gold and silver particles are dissolved. The balance of the ore sinks to the bottom of the tank in the form of a thick slime, while the clear water at the top, containing the metal in solution, runs off through holes in the side of the tank at the top. This solution is then run over metallic zinc which precipitates the gold and silver, and this is cleaned out of the box about every two weeks and melted into bullion ingots.

The water of the heavy slime at the bottom also contains some of the metal. In order to extract this, the heavy solution is pumped out of the bottom of the tank and run onto a large, slowly revolving cylinder covered with a cloth. A vacuum on the inside of the cylinder sucks the water off, while the water is run over the metallic zinc, as stated before.

In the cyanide process, as I understand it, the copper or lead contained in the ore is not saved. Hence ore containing a great deal of copper, lead, etc., is more profitably treated by the stamping process. Ore containing only gold and silver can be more profitably treated by the cyanide process, as this process extracts a greater percentage of the metal.

The assayers, of whom there are a number in every mining community, test the ores before hand and ascertain what metals are contained in it and its richness.

While at the cyanide mill I saw the casting of a bullion ingot of gold and silver mixed, that was valued at about $2,500. These ingots are sent to the U. S. mint at Denver, where the gold and silver are separated.

Gold mining, as it looks to me, is nothing more than a gamble. The magic word "Gold" hypnotizes the prospectors and gold seekers. They do not count their time and energy expended, nor their "overhead expenses," but they have found "GOLD." This word looms up in big letters. The same time and energy expended in other endeavors would in most cases be much more profitable.

I was told by someone (I don't know with what authority) that all the gold used in the world, as money and otherwise, cost about $80 per ounce. As the standard price of gold is about $20 per ounce, it would appear that somebody lost money.

The following simile illustrates why goldseekers are so persistent in their hunt:

If one ties a stick to a dog's back and let it project over his head a little ways and a beefsteak is tied at the end so it will dangle a few inches in front of his nose, the dog will surely chase that piece of meat, but of course it will always hang a few inches in front of him. It is so with the goldminer. The "hope of making a strike" always dangles in front of him and consequently his chase in that direction is ceaseless.

I have sent, along with this article, samples of ore found in the mines near Idaho Springs, and also "concentrates" from several mills. Anyone interested may see these by calling at the Republican office.

J. FEUDNER.

WE SHOULD FEEL PROUD

Newcastle Odd Fellows Say Meeting Was Tribute to Arbuckle

According to local Odd Fellows, who attended the district meeting in Rushville, Thursday and Thursday night, the event might be referred to as "demonstration in force," says the Newcastle Times. It is said that fully two thousand members of the order were present. The members of Fidelity lodge who attended the exercises were H. A. Cox, Joseph Freeman, Leander Livezey and Nelson Miller.

The prime object of the gathering was for the purpose of showing appreciation of the retiring grand master, J. T. Arbuckle, of Rushville, and if ever a man had cause to feel proud of the respect shown by his "brethren," Mr. Arbuckle surely has.

NEW YORK FASHION NOTES

By MARGARET MASON.

(Written for United Press.)

Oh where are the terrors of suburbs? Commuting, oh where is thy sting? Since wife wears two in one garments

The joys of the country we sing.

New York, Nov. 6.—Hurrah for the garment that leads a double life.

It may sound as if it were suitable for only the two faced woman, but indeed all and every woman hails it with delight, the Queen of the Commuters in particular.

You see it's a costume fashioned with a long, loose coat over a short, full skirt, giving thereby the simple appearance of a very smart and modish suit.

But be not deceived! When milady unbuttons said coat the double dealing is at once revealed. She stands forth resplendent in a stunning, semi-decollettee afternoon or restaurant gown of delicate pastel tint. A deep facing of the same dark toned material as the coat around the bottom of the skirt is the link between two complete costumes in one, the key to the sartorial situation.

It is deep enough to reach up to the coat when that is donned and effect the perfect picture of a suit and yet, with the coat removed, the dark, deep skirt-band lends richness to the dinner frock exposed, the bodice of which has touches of the same dark toned material to balance up the second of the two in one costumes.

A perfect toilette indeed for the commuter's bride. She can come in early and do her shopping in a fitting and fitted suit and then when fond husband asks her to stay in town to dinner and go to the theatre afterwards, she may accept with perfect equanimity and a perfect frock.

Hubby is always bound to ask her, too, when he sees what a ravishing toilette she has up her coat sleeve. Oh, no commuter's home should be without one of these two-fold blessed frocks.

Another bit of double dealing that Dame Fashion is up to this season is an evening gown that becomes its own wrap. It also becomes its own wearer very much.

Fashioned of the fluffy tulle or the new "soie de soir," it is made with a detachable satin or velvet train falling from the shoulders in back and a like straight panel falling from the corsage in front. This train is so devised as to drape around the shoulders and fasten to the front panel, thereby forming an effective evening wrap.

This gown even goes one better and adds a third to its changing charms. By shedding the panel and train all together: presto changed! Another complete frock is displayed. A most triumphant thimbletruly is this triotlet toilette.

Mrs. T. Frech, R. R. 1, Hickory Point, Tenn., writes: "I am happy to tell you that I am cured of catarrh. Having been afflicted with catarrh and stomach trouble for seven years, and after having tried four different doctors, who only relieved me for a little while, I gave up all hope of being cured. I was induced to try Peruna, and to my great surprise I am now entirely well. My health never was better."

All Angles of Apple Production Will be Taken up by Experts in Their Various Lines.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Plans for the fifth annual apple show of the State Horticultural Society at Tomlinson Hall, beginning today and continuing for a week, have been completed. The annual meeting of the Indiana Horticultural Society will be held the week of the show. Business meetings of the society will receive attention parts of two days, while the rest of the week has been given over to the strongest program ever arranged in the middle West by any horticultural society.

All angles of apple production and apple marketing will be discussed by experts in their special fields. In addition to these headliners, more than a dozen progressive Indiana fruit growers will lead live discussions in the fruit growers' experience meetings held during three mornings.

Inasmuch as the marketing question has become acute in this year of such extraordinary production, this question has been emphasized. The best qualified men in the country are booked to speak on this topic. Among these are R. G. Phillips, secretary of the International Apple Shippers' Association; R. H. Pennington, for two years president of the International Apple Shippers' Association; C. E. Bassett, formerly of Fennville, Mich., now with the bureau of markets of the United States Department of Agriculture and one or more of the Indianapolis commission merchants.

Among the most prominent of the other speakers is Dr. J. C. Whitten of the Missouri Experiment Station, who will give two talks. Dr. Whitten will devote one talk to the subject of "Fruit Buds and Fruit Production" and the other talk to "Winter Injury, Sun Scald, Collar Rot—Their Causes and Prevention." Prof. J. G. Moore, chief of the Department of Horticulture at Wisconsin University, will talk on "The Possibilities and the Future of Fruit Growing." Prof. Laurence Greene of the Iowa Experiment Station will speak on "The Storage of Apples." His storage investigations have given him a wide reputation.

Prof. O. S. Watkins of the Illinois Experiment Station, who has specialized on spraying investigations, will speak on "Lime-Sulphur vs. Bordeaux Mixture." In a wet season such as in Indiana this year it becomes necessary to give great attention to the control of fungus diseases by one or the other of these sprays. Prof. C. G. Woodbury, chief in horticulture at Purdue University, will discuss "What Varieties Shall We Plant?" Prof. Woodbury's work in this state is so well known that no word of recommendation is required for him.

Prof. H. S. Jackson, formerly of the Oregon Experiment Station, now of Purdue University, will speak on "The Control of Fire Blight." The great damage caused throughout the state this year by blight will make his discussion of the subject of timely interest. Senator H. M. Dunlap, who has 1,500 acres of orchard near Savoy, Ill., will speak on "Commercial Orchard in the middle West." His talk will be illustrated by films taken in his own orchards. T. A. Ferrand, judge of the show, also will address the growers. Mr. Ferrand is president of the Michigan Horticultural Society and manages his extensive orchard at Eaton Rapids, Mich.

Almost as much fruit now is in storage as has ever been exhibited before and it seems certain that the apple show will be an unqualified success this year. More than 1,500 bushels of perfect fruit will be on display. Apples will be shown in single boxes, five boxes, twenty-five boxes, fifty boxes and more, in single barrels and in standard trays and plates. In all, twelve classes will be shown. The artistic exhibits will be of unusual interest as growers, commission firms and others will compete against each other in this class. More emphasis is being laid upon the big commercial orchard class and a number of huge exhibits will be shown.

More than 9,000,000 bushels of apples have been produced in Indiana this year and the problems involved in this production, and especially in the marketing of this fruit, make it necessary for all of the growers to gather together and exchange ideas at this great clearing-house—that they may grow more apples, better apples and cheaper apples.

How to Market Them Will be Told in Detail—Best Men in Business to Speak

U. S. AGGIE MAN ON PROGRAM

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—How to market apples will be told in detail at the Indiana apple show opening here today. Because of the remarkable production of the fruit in Indiana this year, growers who lacked knowledge in that branch had written in advance for information and the program was loaded to please them.

The best qualified men in the country are booked to speak on the market subject, according to the show boosters. Among these are R. G. Phillips, secretary of the International Apple Shippers' Ass'n. and C. E. Bassett of the bureau of markets of the U. S. department of agriculture.

More and better exhibits were promised the public this year.

IN ANSWER TO DRY PARADE

(By United Press.)

Chicago, Nov. 6.—One of the most unique parades in the history of the state—in point of purpose—will be held here tomorrow. Its admitted purpose is a demonstration protest against enforcement by city officials of a state statute. It was claimed here today that 100,000 marchers would be in line.

The parade is to be held by the United Societies and all the other liquor interests of the city who are not members of that organization. It was planned as an answer to the recent monster parade of the Chicago Dry Federation in celebration of Mayor Thompson's order closing saloons on Sunday.

Prof. H. S. Jackson, formerly of the Oregon Experiment Station, now of Purdue University, will speak on "The Control of Fire Blight." The great damage caused throughout the state this year by blight will make his discussion of the subject of timely interest. Senator H. M. ## HOOSIERS ARE "CASHING IN"

Based on Estimate Each Death From Tuberculosis Costs $8,000, Society is Paying Way.

1,101 FEWER DEATHS IN STATE

This Means $8,808,000 Was Saved Through Work of Anti-Tuberculosis Society.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Is Indiana "cashing in" on the vast amount of work done by anti-tuberculosis societies, health boards and other agencies during the past decade?

There is an answer to this question, and it was given promptly today at the headquarters of the Indiana Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, 210 Public Savings Insurance Building, this city.

"Yes"—the reply was given without hesitation and with considerable force, when an officer of the society was confronted with the query that begins this story. And in very much less time than it takes to tell it, the interviewer was handed a set of statistics that probably will surprise many readers of the Daily Republican.

The figures, taken from reports issued by the State Board of Health show that in 1904, there were 5,178 deaths from consumption or tuberculosis in Indiana, compared with 4,077 in 1914. This decrease is all the more noticeable when one remembers that in 1904, Indiana's population was 2,590,226 while last year the official estimates place it at 2,796,957.

"Is Indiana 'cashing in'?" mused the anti-tuberculosis executive who had been busy for a moment with a pencil and a pad of paper, "well let's see." Professor Irving Fisher, the world renowned sociologist of Yale University, declared after years of research that the average death from tuberculosis costs the community $8,000.

There were 1,101 fewer deaths from tuberculosis in Indiana last year than there were in 1904. If the average loss was $8,000 per life, Indiana saved $8,808,000 last year. This would indicate, wouldn't you think, that Indiana is getting some results from the anti-tuberculosis fight?

It was pointed out today that during the past ten years, the organized crusade against consumption has developed and for several years has been shaped along the lines of education leading to prevention. In the past decade, the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, and its Hoosier ally, the Indiana Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis have developed out of the great need for a systematic propaganda of interest to laymen as well as to medical men. By far the largest expense of this propaganda is financed through Red Cross seals which are sold each year, prior to and during the holiday season. In Indiana, more than three score local anti-tuberculosis societies have been formed through the efforts of the state organization and these local societies are given the Red Cross seal agency in their respective communities. An average of 80 per cent of the Red Cross Seal money is retained by the local societies, the remaining twenty per cent being used to finance the state and national organizations. All of the Red Cross Seal money is used in the war on the "white plague" through an agreement made by the American Red Cross.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Miss Jane Ogden, local society girl, and Republican Chairman Frederick C. Tanner were married here today. They met at Gov. Whitman's house a year ago. Soon after that Tanner became seriously ill and Miss Ogden quit society to nurse him.

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 6.—Mayor Irving today planned to act as host to every California and Washington mayor who accepts his blanket invitation to the California-Washington football game.

Deposit, N. Y., Nov. 6.—In celebration of the anniversary of breaking of ground for the Erie railroad 80 years ago, the citizens of this city planned a big parade and civic program of speeches.

KERN CLAIMED BY BOTH SIDES

Senator From Indiana is in Perilous Position Because of Struggle Over War Preparedness.

CONTRADICTING STATEMENTS

Bitterness is Already Cropping Out Following Tilt Between President Wilson and Bryan.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Senator John W. Kern is claimed by both sides in the titanic controversy that has just broken out in the Democratic party over war preparedness. The administration forces believe Senator Kern will support the program outlined by the President in his Manhattan Club speech recently for a very considerable expansion of the army and navy. William J. Bryan's followers are saying that the President's adherents are a bit "previous" in counting Senator Kern on their side and that they will have an advantage later on.

The Bryan followers are pointing to a marked similarity in certain paragraphs of Mr. Bryan's statement, given out yesterday, and interviews of Senator Kern, that there never was a time when this country was in less danger of molestation by a foreign enemy. Because of Senator Kern's position of leadership in the Senate, his attitude, now that the issue is clearly drawn, is of considerable moment. It is believed here that he and Mr. Bryan have exchanged letters on the preparedness issue.

That Mr. Bryan's pronouncement is a clear-cut challenge to President Wilson, and is to be followed by as bitter a clash as that which split the Democratic party wide open in 1896 is a view generally expressed here. It is now believed that 1916, twenty years after the original Bryan split in 1896, will witness a second Bryan split of no less serious proportions than the first.

Bitterness already is cropping out. The following in the President's speech is interpreted as referring directly to Mr. Bryan:

"If men differ with me in this vital matter I shall ask them to make it clear how far and in what way they are interested in making the permanent interests of the country safe against disturbance?"

Mr. Bryan's acceptance of that challenge was his prompt statement. As soon as he read the President's remarks he called up the newspapers and press associations and informed them he would have a statement.

Mr. Bryan, it is believed here, is laying the groundwork to run for the presidential nomination next year on a platform of peace, prohibition and opposition to big appropriations for the army and navy, with a special appeal to the German vote. He will meet Representative Claude Kitchin, Democratic leader-to-be of the House, and other opponents of preparedness here next week and the battle will be on.

President Wilson's present plan is not to make any answer to Mr. Bryan's criticism. No statement was forthcoming from the White House on the subject. Mr. Bryan's position was known by the President before he made his speech in New York last night.

The former secretary of state's statement, which reiterates views he has previously expressed on the subject of preparedness for war, was regarded as the opening gun in the fight which administration leaders expect in Congress against adoption of the plan.

MAY MEAN FUSS IN CONGRESS

William F. McCombs, Democratic National Chairman, Condemns LaFollette Seamen's Law.

SAYS IT SHOULD BE REPEALED

Calls on Democratic Members of Congress to Repudiate it—Nev-er Should Have Been Signed.

Washington, Nov. 6.—A declaration made by William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, that the LaFollette seamen's law ought never to have been enacted and his assertion that it should be repealed foreshadows a serious split in the Democratic forces in the congress, many persons here believe.

"This is the time of all times when American shipping should be encouraged so that fresh capital would be induced to enter the shipping business," says Chairman McCombs.

This declaration is regarded here as significant, particularly in its reference to the investment of fresh capital in the shipping business for that is exactly what Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo is busying himself to prevent in this tireless advocacy of the administration ship purchase bill.

It is the general opinion in shipping circles that when the government enters the foreign marine, private capital must halt, for unless the navigation laws are radically amended no private concern can afford to stand the losses incident to the operation of American ships under the present system. The administration proposes to take money from the treasury to cover the deficit caused by operating government ships and if its purposes are to be inferred from the attitude of the secretary of commerce, it has no intention of encouraging any modification of the seaman's law by the congress. On the contrary, Secretary Redfield has taken on himself the responsibility of construing the law in the interest of the shipping companies in the face of their own expressed opinion that the law means what it says.

As far as lies within the influence of his position, Chairman McCombs has called on the Democratic members of the congress to repudiate the LaFollette law. He does not say "modify," he says "repeal" it.

He says the law never should have been signed. If the chairman also is prepared to give countenance to the opposition to the ship purchase bill which the administration will press at the coming session, he will find a ready following in most of the Democrats of the seaboard states.

PONIES FEATURE FIRST DAY OF SHOW

Departure From Usual Rule—Society Women in Gorgeous Gowns Rival For Favor

PROFESSIONALS ENTERED

(By United Press.)
New York, Nov. 6.—Bantam high-stepping ponies, never before given much consideration among the thoroughbreds of horsemanship, have become so much the fashion that they are, together with the gorgeous gowns of the society women, a big feature of the National Horse show which opened at Madison Square Garden here today. A few years ago the ponies were not represented in a single horse show either in America or abroad.

Another departure from the rules of former horse shows is the admission of professional exhibitors to novice classes. Professionals heretofore have been excluded. The American and Canadian Hackney horse societies have $500 prizes and gold medals for the best hackneys. The show will end Nov. 12.

RENEWS PLEDGE OF FRIENDSHIP

In Another Statement Today Bryan Asks Why he Should Not Express an Opinion.

OPPONENTS DO IT, HE SAYS

Can't Understand Why His Fealty to Wilson Should be Questioned by Democrats.

(By United Press.)
Washington, Nov. 6.—Former Secretary of State Bryan today issued another statement in which he renewed in assurances of friendship for President Wilson.

Bryan's statement was as follows:

"I have no plans formulated. I am doing what I believe to be the duty of every citizen to do. How can the president know what the people think unless individuals express themselves?"

"Those who approve of his plan do not hesitate to express themselves. Why should those who are opposed to the plan hesitate to express themselves? The editors of metropolitan newspapers who daily fling incense before the special interests do not hesitate to express an opinion as to what the country needs."

"Why should a country editor like myself be denied the privilege?"

"And why should a Democrat's friendship for the president be questioned when he differs with the president on the issues like this which has nothing in the history of the country or party to commend it? The president's appeal was not to members of his party but to the people of 'all shades of opinion.'"

TO GET PROPOSAL OF SHORT COURSE

help eradicate the disease and because they did not care to ship their live stock over the state and expose it to the disease, the short course had to be called off.

When plans were being made for the proposed short course last February it was somewhat of a puzzle to determine where the night meetings would be held. It was practically determined when arrangements were being made that the evening sessions would have to be held in some local church. But that perplexing question has been removed with the completion of the new Graham Annex school building.

Although no advance information has been received here, it is presumed that the short course would be of three days' duration, as former courses have been. The course program consists of lectures on allied farm subjects and home economics as well as demonstrations in the various departments of the work. One of the big and interesting features of the course are the live stock lectures. Purdue ships to each short course its choicest live stock to be used as examples in the lecture and to show the points in live stock judging.

Mr. Frier was in North Vernon today where it was thought likely arrangements would be made for a short course there.

NO RALLY TO BE HELD IN RICHMOND

Republicans There Call off District Meeting Because Senator Borah Couldn't Come.

MAY TAKE PLACE LATER ON

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 6.—Plans for holding in Richmond a sixth district Republican rally have, for the time being at least, been abandoned, L. S. Bowman, Wayne county chairman, announced today.

"Perhaps later on a district rally in Richmond will be arranged, but not until we can secure a particularly well qualified man to be the principal speaker of the occasion," Mr. Bowman said.

Mr. Bowman and other party workers in the county, particularly desired to have Senator Borah of Idaho, a presidential possibility and one of the leaders of the progressive wing of the party. It had been arranged to hold a rally in this city the latter part of October with Senator Borah as the principal speaker, but when it was ascertained that he could not come to Richmond at that time the meeting was called off with the understanding that the rally would be held when Senator Borah announced he could come to this city. Mr. Bowman has now been definitely informed that it will be impossible for the senator to attend a rally here this fall, so the event has been indefinitely postponed.

"We have no other man in view as a speaker," Mr. Bowman stated.

BIG RECEPTION TO LIBERTY BELL

Civic And Patriotic Organizations in Indianapolis Plan Demonstration When it Arrives.

TO TRAVERSE WASHINGTON ST.

Five Grand Army Posts Are Asked to Participate in Festivities Sunday, Nov. 21

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Plans are being developed to accord the liberty bell a royal welcome when it is brought to Indianapolis Sunday night, Nov. 21. Both civic and patriotic organizations will participate.

Col. J. R. Fesler, assistant adjutant general of the G. A. R., said he expected to communicate today with the five Grand Army posts in Indianapolis and urge them to make immediate arrangements for participating. These posts are expected to name committees soon.

There has been no change in the time for arrival of the bell. The flat car on which it is carried will be switched from the railroad tracks about 7:30 p. m. to the street car tracks. The bell then will be moved slowly down Washington street as far east as East street, where the car will turn and again traverse Washington street to a point beyond White river. Ample opportunity will be given every one to see the famous bell. It will leave Indianapolis at 10:30 for Louisville.

Mayor Bell has asked the Board of Trade and the Chamber of Commerce to assist in the reception. Aquilla L. Jones, chairman; L. C. Boyd, C. C. Perry, W. J. Mooney, J. J. Appel, A. M. Glossbrenner and James H. Taylor have been named as a committee to represent the Board of Trade. The Chamber of Commerce committee soon will be named. A joint session of the committees likely will be held in the next week to perfect arrangements.

Newton McGuire, secretary-treasurer of the Sons of Veterans, said the question of that organization's participation in the affair likely would be discussed at a meeting Wednesday. Miss Tarquina L. Voss, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, said her organization desires a part in the celebration.

No arrangements have been made for participation by school children. Sunday night all school children will have an opportunity to assist.

TOGETHER PROPOSAL OF SHORT COURSE

Farmers of Rush County and Business Men Asked to Meet Monday Afternoon at 2 O'clock.

G. M. FRIER WILL BE HERE

Purdue Representative Will See if There is Enough Interest Here to Hold Course.

A meeting of farmers living in Rushville and elsewhere in the county and business men will be held in the court house assembly room Monday afternoon at two o'clock to hear a proposal to bring the Purdue Farmers' Short Course here this winter.

It will be recalled that arrangements had practically been completed to hold a short course here last winter, but at the last moment the Purdue authorities called off all short courses because of the foot and mouth disease which was epidemic in Indiana last winter.

G. M. Frier, who is in charge of the short course work of the Purdue extension department, will arrive here Monday about noon for the purpose of outlining the work that will be necessary to hold a short course here.

It is urged that every farmer and business man who is the least bit interested in the project attend the meeting to show the interest that is felt in such an undertaking in Rush county.

The Chamber of Commerce, with the aid of farmers, will undertake to land the short course for the county, realizing the immense value of such a school of instruction. The Chamber of Commerce has been in correspondence for some time with Mr. Frier urging that he come here and put the proposition up to the people of the county.

Because of the heavy demand for short courses and the limited number of them which can be held, Mr. Frier has to be certain that there is a real demand for a short course before he will grant any given county a date. For that reason it is expressly urged that all those who feel any interest whatever in the undertaking attend the meeting Monday afternoon.

It will be recalled that the farmers short course would have taken place here last February. Plans were being formulated when the foot and mouth disease hit Indiana live stock. Because the attention of the Purdue authorities was needed to

The Rev. J. H. O. Smith of Little Rock, Arkansas, evangelist, and H. H. Saunders, singing evangelist, of King Fisher, Oklahoma, arrived today to start the revival meetings at the Main Street Christian church Sunday. The choir of the church will meet with Mr. Saunders tonight at seven o'clock at the church to prepare for the special meetings.

JUDGE WAS NOT ON THE BENCH TODAY

Argument Started in Richmond Case he is Hearing, Friday Afternoon and Continued Today.

A change in plans late yesterday prevented Judge Sparks from coming home from Richmond and holding court here today. It was at first thought that the closing arguments in the case there would not start until Monday, but instead of this the argument started yesterday and today Judge Sparks hoped to see the end of the case.

Judge Sparks sent word to Clerk Taylor that he would be on the bench here Monday. From this it was taken that the Richmond case would go to the jury this afternoon. One or two divorces were on the program here for today, but they were carried over until later in the term. Judge Sparks has been adjourning court in Richmond on Friday evening, but with a chance of finishing the case he determined to push it through today.

HENRY S. STEELE DEAD

Native of Rush County Expires at Elwood Friday.

Henry S. Steele, 74 years old, a native of Rush county, died yesterday at his home in Elwood, after a long illness from senility and a complication of diseases. Mr. Steele is remembered here by many people especially in Walker township where he was born and reared. He left here, together with his family, in 1881 going to the gas belt, and finally located in Elwood, where he had since resided. He was the father of Charles Steele, the well known road contractor of Wilkeson. He is survived by his widow and six children. The funeral services will be conducted Sunday at the late residence in Elwood and burial will take place there.

CHRIST LIVES IN BREAD AND WINE

Father Conway Explains Catholic Doctrines of Lord's Supper Friday Night.

QUOTES SOME AUTHORITIES

Says Christ Spoke Literally When He Said "This is My Body; This is my Blood."

Christ spoke literally and not figuratively and thereby established the Lord's Supper when he said: "This is my body; this is my blood," was the assertion of the Rev. Bertrand Conway, Paulist priest, at St. Mary's Catholic church Friday night. He also declared that Christ exists and is present in the bread and wine.

A large crowd was out last night to hear Father Conway, who is giving a series of lectures here this week for the benefit of Catholics and non-Catholics alike.

In response to requests, Father Conway's subject tonight will be "Marriage and Divorce" instead of "The Sacrifice of the Mass." The concluding lecture will be given Sunday evening when Father Conway will deliver an address on the subject "Why I Am a Catholic."

The services Sunday evening will be marked by a great deal of serenity, as is customary at the closing of the Forty Hours Devotion in honor of the Blessed Sacrament.

The lectures have furnished, it is stated, perhaps the most brilliant exposition of the Catholic teaching which St. Mary's church has ever enjoyed. The attendance of non-Catholics has been large, seemingly on Friday night, it is said, outnumbering the members of the congregation. Some Protestant ministers have been in attendance during the week.

On the subject of the "Catholic Doctrine of the Lord's Supper," Father Conway said:

"The doctrine of the real presence of Jesus Christ in the Holy Eucharist has always been the most treasured possession of the Catholic church. By it she ever proclaims to the world what Jesus, her divine founder, is ever living on her altars, calling upon His people to visit Him in their needs, to beg His intercession in the daily sacrifice of the mass, and to unite themselves to Him by the closest possible bond between God and man, the Holy communion."

"The teaching of our church on the Real Presence is clearly set forth in the council of Trent, which assembled in the sixteenth century chiefly for the purpose of combating the errors of the day on the Eucharist. It decreed: 'This holy synod teaches, and openly and simply professes, that in the august sacrament of the holy Eucharist, after the consecration of the bread and wine, our Lord Jesus Christ, true God and true Man, is truly really and substantially contained under the species (or appearances) of these sensible things.'

"The Catholic church, taking its stand on the words of Christ: 'This is My Body; This is My Blood,' declares that the Lord is truly there under what appears to be bread and what appears to be wine; that he is not present symbolically, figuratively or representatively, but really; he is also present substantially, the word substance meaning a distinct, self-complete, existing nature, in which various qualities in here, and which is distinct from these qualities."

"In the sixth chapter of St. John's gospel, Jesus said to the Jews: 'The bread that I will give is my flesh for'

RECEIPTED BILL SPOILS STORY

Marshall Spurrier Receives Whiskey Statement Marked Paid at County Jail Today.

IT DISCREDITS HIS TALE

Is Sent to Jail For Thirty Days For Drunkenness and "Blind Tiger" Charge May be Filed Yet.

After conducting the court of inquiry Friday afternoon in an effort to learn who was the operator of the "blind tiger" at the home of Robert Johnson, colored, the police and prosecutor knew about as much about the affair as they did before they started. Marshall Spurrier, Earl Green and Mrs. Johnson were all witnesses before the court and all told such widely different stories that the police were up a stump as to whom they should believe.

Spurrier drew a fine of one dollar and costs and thirty days in jail on an intoxication charge and it is more than likely that the "blind tiger" charge will be placed against him. The evidence that he was responsible for the whiskey being in the Johnson home was strengthened this morning when he received a receipt from the James R. Ross and Co., wholesale liquor dealers in Indianapolis for the payment of three gallons of whiskey at a total cost of $7.95.

Spurrier testified yesterday at the court of inquiry that he brought the whiskey here from Connersville and that he and Johnson intended taking it to College Corner, Ohio, with them Monday. The letter received this morning from the Indianapolis firm was delivered to Spurrier at the county jail and he in turn handed it over to Sheriff Cavitt. When confronted by this evidence this morning by Prosecutor Stevens, Spurrier admitted that he had lied in police court yesterday afternoon and stated that the receipted bill was for the whiskey which had been found at the Johnson home and which had been received by express Wednesday evening.

Earl Green told the police that he boarded at the Johnson home and that he knew nothing of the whiskey until Spurrier asked him to have a drink. He was released from jail this morning as the authorities believed they had no case against him.

Prosecutor Stevens stated that there was no hurry about filing a charge against Spurrier as he would be in jail for a total of 41 days on the fine received yesterday. The neighbors of the Johnson family have made numerous complaints to the police and the officers are anxious to get the right man before proceeding with the case. Johnson is expected home tonight from College Corner where he is working for Wilk & Co., and he will be asked to tell what he knows of the case.

Yesterday the principals were arraigned separately and their stories were nothing alike, leaving the police to believe that the whole bunch was not telling the truth.

FAMILY AFFAIRS SETTLED

Thomas Alzman and His Sister-in-Law Are Fined.

The troubles of Thomas Alzman, his wife and sister-in-law, Miss Flora Williams, which have been aired recently in police court, were settled last night when Alzman pleaded guilty to assault on Miss Williams and was fined one dollar and costs. Miss Williams also pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to obey a summons and received a fine of $10 and costs. In settling the case it was agreed that Miss Williams should stay away from the Alzman home in the future. Action on another charge against her was suspended, pending her good behavior.

ATHENS SITUATION IS HIGHLY CRITICAL

Stories Current of Military Plots, Threats of Revolution and Wholesale Arrests.

PLANS ARE CHANGED RAPIDLY

Paris, Nov. 6. The Athens situation was highly critical and uncertain this afternoon. Definite news was not obtainable. Against London dispatches asserting Premier Zamaia would remain in office and reorganize his cabinet and that parliament would be dissolved, an Athens message received here asserted that what the outcome would be was uncertain. A third account was that Zamaia had refused to reconstruct the cabinet.

The general opinion here was that pressure and counter pressure by the Germanic forces and Entente allies were producing alternate effects and that the Greek government leaders themselves were changing plans as rapidly as they made them.

Stories were current of military plots, threats of revolution and wholesale political arrests.

ELECTION CONTEST LIKELY

Republicans and Democrats Are Still Claiming Kentucky.

(By United Press.) Louisville, Ky., Nov. 6.—As official returns from Tuesday's elections continued to be compiled today possibility of a contested election grew. Republican headquarters show Morrow leading by 297.

KITCHENER GOES TO WAR FRONT

Official Declaration in London Means War Ministers Will Take Charge of Allies Operations.

Lord Derby, Author of Scheme Used in Place of Conscription, Favored for the Place.

(By United Press.) London, Nov. 6.—Official admission was made here tonight that Lord Kitchener had left for the front.

It was stated that "at the request of his colleagues Lord Kitchener has left for the eastern theater of war."

The official statement was considered equal to a declaration that Lord Kitchener is to take command of the allies operation in the new war theater.

Few believe Kitchener will return to the war office. That he handed his resignation to King George but that it was refused is asserted by the Globe.

"There is an unpleasant obscurity about the whole business," said the Globe. "Lord Haldane is credited with the conviction that he would fill the war office post adequately, but we most sincerely hope that the error as to give it to him would instantly jeopardize the life of the government."

Haldane who was Lord High Chancellor in the Liberal cabinet which preceded the present coalition ministry was dropped out when the reorganization was effected because the public viewed him as a pro-German.

Lord Derby, author of the scheme for stimulating voluntary army enlistment in place of conscription is favored in some quarters for Kitchener's place.

New York, Nov. 6.—Twenty-two women and girls were reported missing following an explosion that wrecked the Diamond Candy company's building in Brooklyn this afternoon. The building burst into flames following the explosion.

the life of the world, the Jews at once understood him literally, for they answered: "How can this man give us His flesh to eat?" Had they misunderstood him, he would have corrected their mistake. But as they were right in taking him literally, he repeats his teaching, saying: "Amen, Amen, I say unto you: Except you eat the flesh of the Son of Man, and drink of His blood, you shall not have life in you." He tells his hearers that eating His flesh and drinking his blood is a pledge of everlasting life, a real true eating and drinking, means of intimate union with Himself, a proof of supernatural life, and an earnest of immortality. "He that eateth My flesh and drinketh My blood, hath everlasting life; I will raise him up on the last day. For My flesh is meat indeed; and My blood is drink indeed. He that eateth my flesh and drinketh my blood abideth in Me and I in him. As the Father hath sent Me, and I live by the Father, so he that eateth Me, shall live by Me. This is the bread that came down from heaven. He that eateth this bread shall live forever."

When some present declared that this doctrine was hard and revolting, he did not explain it away, and assure them that he referred only to a symbolical eating and drinking. On the contrary, He pities their blindness, and says to the disciples: "Does this scandalize you?" Do you find this hard to believe? What would you say if you saw me ascend into heaven before your eyes? Set aside for the moment your merely natural judgment and reason, for these things are spiritually examined and known; use your faith and spiritual insight; accept this mystery on My word, even though you do not see how it will be brought to pass. "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing; the words that I have spoken to you are spirit and life." These last words have no reference whatever, as some of our non-Catholic brethren have taught, to any distinction between the literal and figurative, as one can readily see by looking up their use in other parts of sacred scripture.

There are four accounts of the institution of the holy Eucharist: Matt. 26, 26; Mark 14, 22; Luke 22, 19; 1 Cor. 11, 23. In all the words "This is My Body, This is My Blood," are identical; in all we find the cup called "the blood of the Testament" or "The New Testament," all speak of communion, for they either read with St. Matthew, "Take and eat" and "Drink you all of this, or with St. Luke, "He gave to them for the purpose of eating and drinking."

If we try to get away from the controversies of the past, and look carefully into the question, we see at once that this was not a time for our Savior to talk in figures and parables.

KING RISKS A REVOLUTION

Constantine of Greece Takes Big Chance With Odds Against Him. to Prevent War

ZAMAS TO STAY IN OFFICE

Ex-Premier Venizelos, Leader of War Party, Will be Asked to Join The Cabinet

(By United Press.) London, Nov. 6.—Constantine of Greece has risked revolution to avoid going to war.

Premier Zamaia, head of the Greek neutrality cabinet is to remain in office, a dispatch from Athens stated today. Parliament will be dissolved the message stated.

Zamaia will try to reconstruct his ministry. Its old members will be retained, the message said, but two new ones will be added. It is taken for granted that these will be representatives of the war party. Probably one of them will be Ex-premier Venizelos, head of the war party, if he can be persuaded to accept.

That he will do so is considered very doubtful, however. In fact it is questioned if any men at all prominent in the pro-war group will consent to take portfolios in the new cabinet which will be overwhelmingly anti-war.

The king's plan is to endeavor to satisfy the war element by giving it ministerial representation but deprive it of any real power by keeping it in a hopeless minority.

Bryan's Threatening

Those Democrats who had hoped that the trouble between President Wilson and Former Secretary of State Bryan would not reach a crisis may rest assured that if it is left to Mr. Bryan, the president's seat will be a warm place for Mr. Wilson to sit. Although Bryan does not question the president's motives he makes it plain that he will not stop short of even creating a serious division in the ranks of Democracy over the question of war preparedness.

Although he has been discredited on numerous occasions, Wm. Jennings Bryan can still command a large following. And there are doubtless many people in the United States who believe just as Mr. Bryan does regarding preparedness.

The only difference between the ex-secretary of state and the president is that Bryan is consistent and Wilson is not. The Democratic party has always been unalterably opposed to a big navy and a bigger army. With the control of the national legislative body passing into the hands of a Democratic majority, we have seen the bigger navy program instituted and kept up by former Republican congresses, give way to grape juice diplomacy. But when the time of stress comes, the president as leader of his party, comes forth with enormous plans of enlarging the army and navy, calling for an outlay of approximately five billions of dollars.

On that score, Mr. Bryan has a shade the better of Mr. Wilson. He can go steadfastly on and fight the preparedness program and not be attacked for any inconsistency. But the president will have to admit that his party has been wrong in the past.

President Wilson, however, need not worry about explaining away inconsistencies. He pledged himself in his campaign for the election to allow American coast-wise shipping vessels free tolls in the Panama canal and exactly reversed his position after he was elected.

We read much in the public press today of "loyalty to our country."

It is well, for if any men on earth has reason to feel loyal to his country for benefits conferred, that man is the American citizen.

We have a community here in which any people might feel a just pride, and we have a people wholly on a par with the community, though there are times when we are neglectful of our interests and unmindful of the disintegrating consequences which invariably ensue.

Loyalty always pays its dividend but loyalty to home and home people pays a double dividend.

Let us be loyal to country by all means, but let us be doubly loyal to our home people and our home institutions, for it is by this means only that we may thrive, and flourish and grow as a collective unit in the marts of the world.

When a fellow butts in the only wise thing he can do is to butt right on out again.

The cannibals of Africa are winking the eye of approval at their brothers in Europe.

The future of Mexico is in our hands and we are grasping it as firmly as a hot poker.

Every person is good for something. When good for nothing else they become good riddance.

The wiser a man becomes the less he admits that he knows.

It doesn't hurt half so much when it hits the other fellow.

Prepared for the United Press by the Centennial department of the Indian Historical Commission.

Morton, Republican Standard Bearer
Morton was a delegate to the Pittsburg preliminary convention, February 22, 1856, which in a sense marked the birth of the National Republican party. The name Republican was gradually assumed in Indiana as in other northern states as the name of the new party. At its state convention, May 1st, Morton was nominated Governor by acclamation amid much enthusiasm. He was then but 33 years old. His opponent was Ashbel P. Willard. The men differed very much as did Lincoln and Douglas, in style of oratory and mental processes and character. After a heated campaign, Willard was selected by a majority of 6,000. As in the Lincoln-Douglas is due two years later, Morton's defeat was the stepping stone to his crowning success.

People to do The Kicking
(Washington Herald)

Jawn W. Kern declares that he is opposed to strengthening the army and navy for the reason that "the people want peace." All that Jawn lacks to make a first-class Chinaman of him is a pig tail a clean shave and a mother Hubbard with gold braid on it—Fort Wayne News.

We humbly suggest the addition of a sport shirt, a wrist watch and a powder puff to the outfit.—Hammond Times.

A better way would be to denude him of his clothes and give him a barrel. Then he would be as prepared as this country is to withstand intruders without taking to the woods.—Lafayette Herald.

Let's permit our Jawn to go ahead as usual. He may be able to extend that famous senatorial cloture so as to shut off the whole European debate. Such a proceeding would be just as effectual as the Bryan plan of wishing peace on long-distance belligerents.—Indianapolis Times.

The Hown Jawn might add to his adornment by tacking George Lockwood's famous "Please Kick Me" sign to the seat of his pants. Come to think of it, though, that is unnecessary. The people of Indiana are good and ready to kick him there in the election next year.

ALARMED ABOUT FURTHER LOSS

Administration Officials Fear That Revenue Decrease Will Cause Embarrassment.

CASE OF TRUST COMPANIES

Several Bring Suit and Others Follow to Recover "War Tax" Paid Government.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Administration officials are alarmed at the possibility of a further loss of revenue.

Some months ago certain trust companies brought suit to recover amounts paid by them under the "war tax" law. Their example was followed by others, until at the present time practically every dollar paid by the trust companies under the "war tax" law is involved in litigation.

The first of these cases is set for trial before December 1. It is apparent that the administration is by no means confident of the integrity of the law Congress enacted; for additional counsel has been employed to aid government attorneys in defending the suits. It is said that unusually large retainers have been paid on both sides for legal advice.

The litigation is particularly vexatious to the government because Congress laid the foundation for it by a stupid blunder. The tax involved is levied under section 3 of the "war tax" law referring to banks and bankers. At the time it was passed federal courts had already declared that a statute identical in terms, so far as trust companies were concerned, with the present law, was insufficient to make trust companies liable for the tax imposed.

It is said that if Congress had exercised ordinary caution and drafted the "war tax" law so that it should not conflict with a precedent already established by federal court, the litigation could have been avoided. By carelessly neglecting this elementary principle, Congress virtually gave the trust companies a mortgage on all the revenue they have paid, which they may foreclose by judicial procedure.

A decision adverse to the government would be unusually embarrassing at this time. In the first place, it would mean a further shrinkage in revenues directly due to Democratic carelessness. The treasury deficit long ago assumed ugly proportions, and additional leakages would be damaging, both financially and politically.

Furthermore, it is proposed to immediately reenact the "war tax" law, which automatically expires December 31, 1915. The places the administration on the two horns of a dilemma. If the paragraph by which trust companies are taxed is amended, it is a confession of error. But if it is reenacted without amendment, and the courts later decide against the validity of the law, a large sum in revenues will be lost. "By their fruits ye shall know them." The administration has proposed a program of legislation for national defense that calls for the highest de-

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—James Watson of Rushville spoke to the Indianapolis Jovian League at the Hotel Severin in this city at noon today. Just what the Jovian League has to say to the traveling men is being kept a secret. "They are the life of trade," said J. D. Meek, on whose shoulders the program rests, "and that is why we want to get them all together. Then there will be a lot of life and a lot of live wires all in the same meeting."

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Football fans in Indiana refused to get excited today over the prospects of exciting or important games within the state. The few who went with the Indiana squad to Columbus, O.,
however, looked for a real contest
between evenly matched teams. The game will not figure in the Conference race however, except to help fix
their relative positions.

De Pauw's fast-scoring team
came here expecting to run up a big lead on Butler. Earlham went to
Franklin and probably to defeat.
Little hope was at hand on the Winona-Rose game, though the latter was believed the stronger. Wabash was expected to demonstrate its strength again by beating Northwestern college.

With Butler, Earlham and Franklin already eliminated from the secondary college race, the games today had little significance.

OUT FOR REVENGE
Columbus, Ohio, November 6.—
The Champion team from Bloomington, Ind., came here today with stern
intent to wipe out the beating given it last year by Ohio State at Indiapolis when the Buckeyes won 13

to 3. All hope had it that the Hoosiers had an even chance to win.
Indiana is considered much
stronger than last year when it finished last in the Conference and
Ohio finished fifth.

The foolish doxter figured today
that Indiana should win. He showed these scores: Wisconsin beat Ohio
21 to 0, Chicago beat Wisconsin 14
to 13. Since Indiana held Chicago
to a 7 to 0 score, Indiana should beat Ohio State.

EASY FOR DE PAUW

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Determined to run up a larger score
against Butler than the 35 to 7 registered by Wabash last Saturday,
the De Pauw machine came here today stripped for action. Butler had no chance to win and little chance
of a low score, it was believed.

WABASH SHOULD WIN

Crawfordsville, Ind., Nov. 6.—If Northwestern College out in Naper-
ville, Ill., expects good news from
this town tonight, it will be disappointed, said local football fans. The game today will go to Wabash by a large group of touchdowns. Last year Wabash won 17 to 7, but Wabash this year is far stronger than last year.

BAPTISTS PLAY EARLHAM

Franklin, Ind., Nov. 6.—Franklin
expected to win by more than one
touchdown this afternoon when it
lined up against Earlham, but Coach
Thurber had his men well drilled on
the word "overconfidence." He well remembered the trouncing the Richmond crew gave Franklin last year.
The dope showed Franklin an easy
winner. Earlham was forced to extend herself to beat Hanover 16 to 6 while Franklin won up a score 74
to 0 on the downstaters.

will be every bit as hard fought as
the other. Harvard is tottering on the brink of a football rout, and if
her football team doesn't put up a
grand fight to escape that fate it will be the first time in history that
a Harvard team didn't. On the Tiger
side, Princeton is almost on the top of the championship pole; a defeat
by Harvard would send her down
again a lot faster than she came up
as in that event the championship
of the East would be shared by Cornell and the winner of the Pitt-W.
J. game. The incentive for fighting
certainly is there.

Today's tussle also should bring
out a comparison of the two best backers in the East this year—Eddie Mahan and Davy Tibbott, whose educated hoofs have alone brought victory to their respective institutions this year. Tibbott's toe has beaten Dartmouth and Syracuse this year, and Mahan booted Harvard to
a victory over Virginia, one of the conquerors of Yale.

Lieutenant Had to Make His First
Charge in Saint-Cyrian Style
And it Was Fatal

MARRIAGE OF YOUTH AND WAR

Captain Describes His Actions—One
Out of Twenty Can Tell
What Happens

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Paris, Oct. 2: (By Mail)—Once
in a while you strike a soldier who
has seen something and can tell
about it. He is the twentieth man.
With the others it is a jumble of yells and explosions and running
and falling and awakening in hospitals. A captain with a fractured
thigh in a hospital here was one of
the lucid ones. Said he:

"The Saturday morning of the
advance everybody knew the assault
was to begin at 9:15. The artillery
preparation had been wonderful and
the men were really impatient to get away. You can't blame them
either, for it is no fun holding your hands and waiting for a thing like
that.

"Some of them lighted cigars which they rolled themselves with
fingers that didn't tremble a particle.
Some lighted their pipes two minutes before the charge. There was a little joshing but the noise of the cannonade discouraged talk.

"Looking down the line I saw my
lieutenant drawing on his white kid
gloves. He was very young and this was to be his first charge. He wanted to do it properly, in Saint-Cyrian style. Had I been close enough
I would have ordered him to take them off. Hundreds of Saint Cyrian cadets were mowed down at the beginning because they insisted on wearing white gloves. It was the
"marriage of youth and war" and
the grooms must needs be the gloved.

"As our previously regulated and
compared time-pieces reached 9:15
my lieutenant struck a match, lit a cigaret and leaped forward out of the trench waving his men after him.
I leaped upon the parapet at the
same instant, my men following me
yelling something which was their
effort to make "La Marseillaise"
sound above the guns.

"Men began to fall about me so
I hurried the company forward into
a little gully where we stopped a moment waiting for a lull. It was here that I learned of the death of
my lieutenant in the white gloves.
I rallied my men and started forward under a rain of machine-gun
fire. A shell exploded so near that I was thrown off my feet, but nothing was broken so I went on. Then
a shrapnel ball pierced my thigh
breaking the bone. The battle was over so far as I was concerned. It was only 9:30, too—15 minutes from the start. Rotten luck.

"I bound up my wound as best I could and waited under the greatest display of fire-works one ever
saw, waited for the stretcher men.
Finally two came, but near me was one of my men with a bullet in his stomach, so I directed the men to take him. I told the men to come back for me—which they did at
o'clock in the afternoon.

In the second period Mahan boot-

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg
Breast Tea, or as the German folks
call it "Hamburger Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon
it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure
grip, as it opens the pores of the skin,
relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.
Try it the next time you suffer from
a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive
and entirely vegetable, therefore safe
and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Rub Pain and Stiffness away with
a small bottle of old honest

When your back is sore and lame
or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has
you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 25 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right
into the pain or ache, and by the time
you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing,
penetrating oil needs to be used only
once. It takes the ache and pain right
out of your back and ends the misery.
It is magical, yet absolutely harmless
and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica

GOLD MINING

As Observed by a Tenderfoot from Indiana. The Magic Word "Gold" Looms up in Big Letters and Causes Many to Chase the Will-O'-the-Wisp.

—By J. Feudner.

For a month I have been sojourning (for my health) in Idaho Springs, a typical Colorado mountain town, 37 miles west of Denver, with a population of about 3,500 inhabitants—mostly miners and those following related occupations.

By reason of its location in Clear Creek canyon and nestling among a half dozen of the highest peaks of the Rampart range on each side of the creek, the town is not very wide, but to make up in size it is two miles long. Its altitude is 7,543 feet above sea level, and the mountains on each side of the town are from 1,000 to 2,000 feet higher.

It was here where in 1859, at the mouth of Chicago Creek, a wandering trapper made the first discovery of gold in the Rocky Mountains in paying quantities, and thus started the great gold rush of '59. The spot is marked by a monument along Chicago Creek, near where this creek empties into Clear Creek at Idaho Springs. The monument consists of a high oblong boulder set upright on a concrete pedestal, with the following inscription on a metal plate: "On this spot was made the discovery of gold in the Rocky Mountains by George A. Jackson, January 7th, 1859."

All along Clear Creek and also along its tributaries—Forks Creek, Elk Creek, Soda Creek, Chicago Creek, Fall River, etc., evidences can still be seen where the creek bottoms and adjacent banks were dug over by placer miners in the hunt for gold. About twenty years ago a lot of Chinamen worked the placer mines over for a second time making a living where the white man failed.

Two placer mines are still in operation in the bed of Clear Creek, a mile east of Idaho Springs, at one of which I saw actual "panning" of gold by two miners, and saw the "color" in the pans when all the other extraneous matter had been washed out.

Quartz mining has now taken the place of placer mining, and mines on the mountain sides between here and Georgetown and Silver Plume are everywhere in evidence. It is claimed that around Idaho Springs there are 300 gold and silver mines. A few miles north of the town, in Russell's Gulch, are the pitblende mines of Quartz Hill, from which some of the richest radium ore yet discovered has been mined.

The mining map of Clear Creek county, in which Idaho Springs is located, and of which Georgetown is the county seat, is plastered all over with mining claims—most of which, however, are not being worked any more. Everywhere stand idle reduction mills, their machinery rusting, and many buildings dismantled, miners' cabins empty and in a dilapidated condition, plainly showing traces of past prosperous activities.

Georgetown, which, I was told, at one time had a population of 5,000, now has barely 1,000 inhabitants. Over half of the store buildings are empty with the windows nailed up, and the town has a deserted and dismal appearance.

I was informed that the stagnation of the mining industry, especially around Georgetown and Silver Plume, was caused by the low price of silver for the past few years, in consequence of which it did not pay to work the mines.

Idaho Springs, on the other hand, does not show this stagnation so plainly, having more producing mines in the immediate neighborhood. But another reason is that here at the foot of Santa Fe mountain are several thermal springs bubbling with radium gases and laden with medicinal minerals, around which has been built a large hotel, swimming pool, etc., where hot baths are given for rheumatism, etc., and this has transformed the place somewhat into a tourist town with many visitors during the summer season.

However, there is considerable mining activity shown here. At the east end of the town is the famous "Newhouse tunnel," said to be the greatest and longest mining tunnel in the world, which runs northward through the mountains for nearly five miles, tapping a rich mining field in

Gilpin county to the north. The ore is brought here through the tunnel in small ore cars drawn by an electric engine. The ore is treated here in the Argo Mill, located at the mouth of the tunnel, both the cyanide and stamp mill processes being used.

At the western end of the town is located the "Big Five" tunnel, which pierces the mountains for a mile and a half northward. The ore brought in through this tunnel is treated by the various reduction mills, of which there are five in Idaho Springs, running day and night and Sundays continuously.

Ore is also brought in to these mills by teams and wagons hauling loads of from five to six tons of ore can continually be seen going through the town.

One of the peculiarities of mineral bearing ore is that the various minerals found—gold, silver, copper, iron, lead and some zinc—are embedded in the rock mostly in very fine specks or particles.

How these metals (all of them at times found in the same rock) got intermingled and became a part of the rock, is a mystery which I have not yet had time to investigate. I do not even know whether this question has been explained by geologists or mineralogists except by theoretical speculation.

The work of the reduction mills is to get rid of the rock and retain the particles of the metals. It would be too expensive to ship the ore, as it comes from the mines, to the smelters to have the metals extracted, hence these mills, which are usually located as close to the mines as possible, reduce the ore by various processes, and the resulting product is called "concentrate" which is then shipped to the smelters for final treatment and separation of the metals.

The processes used in reducing the ore are the "stamping," "flotation" and "cyanide" processes. Of late the flotation or oil process is being added to the stamp mills, and thus practically all or 90 per cent of the particles of the metals are retained.

The process of the stamp mill is as follows: The ore, as it comes from the mine, is run through crushers and is then slowly fed into the stamp mill. The stamps consist of heavy steel weights lifted by cams and then fall of their own weight. These stamps weigh from five to seven hundred pounds and their continuous falling crushes the rock to a fine powder. Water is run into the stamp box and the pulverized ore is carried off by the water and is run over a copper plate coated with quicksilver. This plate and the quicksilver catch the free gold, which is scraped off every twenty-four hours. The balance of the ore in solution is carried over large slightly inclined tables with shallow grooves and to which a shaking motion is given. The lighter particles of the ore are carried off in the water at the lowest side of the table, while the heavier parts, containing the metals, are shaken off at the end into settling boxes. The settlings are scooped out from time to time and this constitutes the so-called "concentrate."

The ore-containing water from the first series of tables is then run over another series and more but lighter concentrate is obtained. Since the "oil" or "flotation" process has been added, the water which runs off the second series of tables, is mixed with a small quantity of oil and is then sent to agitators, which cause a foam to form on top of the water. This foam catches the light and floating particles of the metal. Mechanical skimmers skim this foam off into a trough washed by a water spray. The resultant product is a concentrate containing the finest particles of the precious metals.

In the cyanide process it is necessary that the cyanide, which dissolves the gold and silver, comes in contact with every particle of the metal. Since the metal is imbedded in the rock in fine particles, as stated before, it is necessary at the very beginning to crush and pulverize the ore as fine as dust. This pulverized ore is mixed with water and carried to the cyanide tanks, containing a solution of two pounds of cyanide to a ton of water. The ore solution runs into the tank in the center, and as soon as it comes in contact with the cyanide, the gold and silver particles are dissolved. The balance of the ore sinks to the bottom of the tank in the form of a thick slime, while the clear water at the top, containing the metal in solution, runs off through holes in the side of the tank at the top. This solution is then run over metallic zinc which precipitates the gold and silver, and this is cleaned out of the box about every two weeks and melted into bullion ingots.

The water of the heavy slime at the bottom also contains some of the metal. In order to extract this, the heavy solution is pumped out of the bottom of the tank and run onto a large, slowly revolving cylinder covered with a cloth. A vacuum on the inside of the cylinder sucks the water off, while the water is run over the metallic zinc, as stated before.

In the cyanide process, as I understand it, the copper or lead contained in the ore is not saved. Hence ore containing a great deal of copper, lead, etc., is more profitably treated by the stamping process. Ore containing only gold and silver can be more profitably treated by the cyanide process, as this process extracts a greater percentage of the metal.

The assayers, of whom there are a number in every mining community, test the ores before hand and ascertain what metals are contained in it and its richness.

While at the cyanide mill I saw the casting of a bullion ingot of gold and silver mixed, that was valued at about $2,800. These ingots are sent to the U. S. mint at Denver, where the gold and silver are separated.

Gold mining, as it looks to me, is nothing more than a gamble. The magic word "Gold" hypnotizes the prospectors and gold seekers. They do not count their time and energy expended, nor their "overhead expenses," but they have found "GOLD." This word looms up in big letters. The same time and energy expended in other endeavors would in most cases be much more profitable.

I was told by someone (I don't know with what authority) that all the gold used in the world, as money and otherwise, cost about $80 per ounce. As the standard price of gold is about $20 per ounce, it would appear that somebody lost money.

The following simile illustrates why goldseekers are so persistent in their hunt:

If one ties a stick to a dog's back and let it project over his head a little ways and a beefsteak is tied at the end so it will dangle a few inches in front of his nose, the dog will surely chase that piece of meat, but of course it will always hang a few inches in front of him. It is so with the goldminer. The "hope" of making a strike always dangles in front of him and consequently his chase in that direction is ceaseless.

I have sent, along with this article, samples of ore found in the mines near Idaho Springs, and also "concentrates" from several mills. Anyone interested may see these by calling at the Republican office.

Newcastle Odd Fellows Say Meeting Was Tribute to Arbuckle

According to local Odd Fellows, who attended the district meeting in Rushville, Thursday and Thursday night, the event might be referred to as "demonstration in force," says the Newcastle Times. It is said that fully two thousand members of the order were present. The members of Fidelity lodge who attended the exercises were H. A. Cox, Joseph Freeman, Leander Livezey and Nelson Miller.

The prime object of the gathering was for the purpose of showing appreciation of the retiring grand master, J. T. Arbuckle, of Rushville, and if ever a man had cause to feel proud of the respect shown by his "brethren," Mr. Arbuckle surely has.

NEW-YORK FASHION NOTES

By MARGARET MASON.

(Written for United Press.)

Oh where are the terrors of suburbs? Commuting, oh where is thy sting? Since wife wears two in one garments

The joys of the country we sing.

New York, Nov. 6.—Hurrah for the garment that leads a double life.

It may sound as if it were suitable for only the two faced woman, but indeed all and every woman hails it with delight, the Queen of the Commuters in particular.

You see it's a costume fashioned with a long, loose coat over a short, full skirt, giving thereby the simple appearance of a very smart and modish suit.

But be not deceived! When milady unbuttons said coat the double dealing is at once revealed. She stands forth resplendent in a stunning, semi-decollete afternoon or restaurant gown of delicate pastel tint. A deep facing of the same dark toned material as the coat around the bottom of the skirt is the link between two complete costumes in one, the key to the sartorial situation.

It is deep enough to reach up to the coat when that is donned and effect the perfect picture of a suit and yet, with the coat removed, the dark, deep skirt-band lends richness to the dinner frock exposed, the bodice of which has touches of the same dark toned material to balance up the second of the two in one costumes.

A perfect toilette indeed for the commuter's bride. She can come in early and do her shopping in a fitting and fitted suit and then when fond husband asks her to stay in town to dinner and go to the theatre afterwards, she may accept with perfect equanimity and a perfect frock.

Hubby is always bound to ask her, too, when he sees what a ravishing toilette she has up her coat sleeve. Oh, no commuter's home should be without one of these two-fold blessed frocks.

Another bit of double dealing that Dame Fashion is up to this season is an evening gown that becomes its own wrap. It also becomes its own wearer very much.

Fashioned of the fluffy tulle or the new "soie de soir," it is made with a detachable satin or velvet train falling from the shoulders in back and a like straight panel falling from the corsage in front. This train is so devised as to drape around the shoulders and fasten to the front panel, thereby forming an effective evening wrap.

This gown even goes one better and adds a third to its changing charms. By shedding the panel and train all together, presto changed! Another complete frock is displayed.

A most triumphant thimble truly is this triotlet toilette.

FIFTH ANNUAL SHOW BEGINS

Indiana Apple Growers Will Display Their Fruit and Hear Addresses on Better Orchards.

DISCUSSION ON MARKETING

All Angles of Apple Production Will be Taken up by Experts in Their Various Lines.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Plans for the fifth annual apple show of the State Horticultural Society at Tomlinson Hall, beginning today and continuing for a week, have been completed. The annual meeting of the Indiana Horticultural Society will be held the week of the show. Business meetings of the society will receive attention parts of two days, while the rest of the week has been given over to the strongest program ever arranged in the middle West by any horticultural society.

All angles of apple production and apple marketing will be discussed by experts in their special fields. In addition to these headliners, more than a dozen progressive Indiana fruit growers will lend live discussions in the fruit growers' experience meetings held during three mornings.

Inasmuch as the marketing question has become acute in this year of such extraordinary production, this question has been emphasized. The best qualified men in the country are booked to speak on this topic. Among these are R. G. Phillips, secretary of the International Apple Shippers' Association; R. H. Pennington, for two years president of the International Apple Shippers' Association; C. E. Bassett, formerly of Fennville, Mich., now with the bureau of markets of the United States Department of Agriculture and one or more of the Indianapolis commission merchants.

Among the most prominent of the other speakers is Dr. J. C. Whitten of the Missouri Experiment Station, who will give two talks. Dr. Whitten will devote one talk to the subject of "Fruit Buds and Fruit Production" and the other talk to "Winter Injury, Sun Scald, Collar Rot—Their Causes and Prevention." Prof. J. G. Moore, chief of the Department of Horticulture at Wisconsin University, will talk on "The Possibilities and the Future of Fruit Growing." Prof. Laurence Greene of the Iowa Experiment Station will speak on "The Storage of Apples." His storage investigations have given him a wide reputation.

Prof. O. S. Watkins of the Illinois Experiment Station, who has specialized on spraying investigations, will speak on "Lime-Sulphur vs. Bordeaux Mixture." In a wet season such as in Indiana this year it becomes necessary to give great attention to the control of fungus diseases by one or the other of these sprays. Prof. C. G. Woodbury, chief in horticulture at Purdue University, will discuss "What Varieties Shall We Plant?" Prof. Woodbury's work in this state is so well known that no word of recommendation is required for him.

Prof. H. S. Jackson, formerly of the Oregon Experiment Station, now of Purdue University, will speak on "The Control of Fire Blight." The great damage caused throughout the state this year by blight will make his discussion of the subject of timely interest. Senator H. M. Duplap, who has 1,500 acres of orchard near Savoy, Ill., will speak on "Commercial Orcharding in the middle West." His talk will be illustrated by films taken in his own orchards. T. A. Ferrand, judge of the show, also will address the growers. Mr. Ferrand is president of the Michigan Horticultural Society and manages his extensive orchard at Eaton Rapids, Mich.

Almost as much fruit now is in storage as has ever been exhibited before and it seems certain that the apple show will be an unequalled success this year. More than 1,500 bushels of perfect fruit will be on display. Apples will be shown in single boxes, five boxes, twenty-five boxes, fifty boxes and more in an gle barrels and in standard trays and plates. In all twelve classes will be shown. The artistic exhibits will be of unusual interest as growers, commission firms, and others will compete against each other in this class. More emphasis is being laid upon the big commercial orchard class and a number of huge exhibits will be shown.

More than 9,000,000 bushels of apples have been produced in Indiana this year and the problems involved in this production, and especially in the marketing of this fruit, make it necessary for all of the growers to gather together and exchange ideas at this great clearing house—that they may grow more apples, better apples and cheaper apples.

LARGE EXHIBITS AT APPLE SHOW

How to Market Them Will be Told in Detail—Best Men in Business to Speak

U. S. AGGIE MAN ON PROGRAM

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—How to market apples will be told in detail at the Indiana apple show opening here today. Because of the remarkable production of the fruit in Indiana this year, growers who lacked knowledge in that branch had written in advance for information and the program was loaded to please them.

The best qualified men in the country are booked to speak on the market subject, according to the show boosters. Among these are R. G. Phillips, secretary of the International Apple Shippers' Ass'n and C. E. Bassett of the bureau of markets of the U. S. department of agriculture.

More and better exhibits were promised the public this year.

100,000 MARCHERS WILL BE IN LINE

Wets of Chicago Plan Unique Demonstration Against Sunday Closing Order

IN ANSWER TO DRY PARADE

(By United Press.)
Chicago, Nov. 6.—One of the most unique parades in the history of the state—in point of purpose—will be held here tomorrow. Its admitted purpose is a demonstration protest against enforcement by city officials of a state statute. It was claimed here today that 100,000 marchers would be in line.

The parade is to be held by the United Societies and all the other liquor interests of the city who are not members of that organization. It was planned as an answer to the recent monster parade of the Chicago Dry Federation in celebration of Mayor Thompson's order closing saloons on Sunday.

HERE AND THERE IN THE NEWS OF THE DAY

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Miss Jane Ogden, local society girl, and Republican Chairman Frederick C. Tanner were married here today. They met at Gov. Whitman's house a year ago. Soon after that Tanner became seriously ill and Miss Ogden quit society to nurse him.

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 6.—Mayor Irving today planned to act as host to every California and Washington mayor who accepts his blanket invitation to the California-Washington football game.

Deposits, N. Y., Nov. 6.—In celebration of the anniversary of breaking of ground for the Erie railroad 30 years ago, the citizens of the city planned a parade and a banquet to mark the occasion.

HOOSIERS ARE CASHING IN

Based on Estimate Each Death From Tuberculosis Costs $8,000, Society is Paying Way.

1,101 FEWER DEATHS IN STATE

This Means $8,808,000 Was Saved Through Work of Anti-Tuberculosis Society.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Is Indiana "cashing in" on the vast amount of work done by anti-tuberculosis societies, health boards and other agencies during the past decade?

There is an answer to this question, and it was given promptly today at the headquarters of the Indiana Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, 210 Public Savings Insurance Building, this city.

"Yes," the reply was given without hesitation and with considerable force, when an officer of the society was confronted with the query that begins this story. And in very much less time than it takes to tell it, the interviewer was handed a set of statistics that probably will surprise many readers of the Daily Republican.

The figures, taken from reports issued by the State Board of Health show that in 1904, there were 5,178 deaths from consumption or tuberculosis in Indiana, compared with 4,077 in 1914. This decrease is all the more noticeable when one remembers that in 1904, Indiana's population was 2,500,226 while last year the official estimates place it at 2,796,957.

"Is Indiana 'cashing in?'" mused the anti-tuberculosis executive who had been busy for a moment with a pen and a pad of paper. "Well let's see. Professor Irving Fisher, the world renowned sociologist of Yale University, declared after years of research that the average death from tuberculosis costs the community $8,000.

There were 1,101 fewer deaths from tuberculosis in Indiana last year than there were in 1904. If the average loss was $8,000 per life, Indiana saved $8,808,000 last year. This would indicate, wouldn't you think, that Indiana is getting some results from the anti-tuberculosis fight."

It was pointed out today that during the past ten years, the organized crusade against consumption has been shaped along the lines of education leading to prevention. In the past decade, the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, and its Hoosier ally, the Indiana Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis have developed out of the great need for a systematic propaganda of interest to laymen as well as to medical men. By far the largest expense of this propaganda is financed through Red Cross Seals which are sold each year, prior to and during the holiday season. In Indiana, more than three score local anti-tuberculosis societies have been formed through the efforts of the state organization and these local societies are given the Red Cross seal agency in their respective communities. An average of 80 per cent of the Red Cross Seal money is retained by the local societies, the remaining twenty per cent being used to finance the state and national organizations. All of the Red Cross Seal money is used in the war on the "white plague" through an agreement made by the American Red Cross.

KERN CLAIMED BY BOTH SIDES

Senator From Indiana is in Perilous Position Because of Struggle Over War Preparedness.

CONTRADICTING STATEMENTS

Bitterness is Already Cropping Out Following Tilt Between President Wilson and Bryan.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Senator John W. Kern is claimed by both sides in the titanic controversy that has just broken out in the Democratic party over war preparedness. The administration forces believe Senator Kern will support the program outlined by the President in his Manhattan Club speech recently for a very considerable expansion of the army and navy. William J. Bryan's followers are saying that the President's adherents are a bit "previous" in counting Senator Kern on their side and that they will have an advantage later on.

The Bryan followers are pointing to a marked similarity in certain paragraphs of Mr. Bryan's statement, given out yesterday, and interviews of Senator Kern, that there never was a time when this country was in less danger of molestation by a foreign enemy. Because of Senator Kern's position of leadership in the Senate, his attitude, now that the issue is clearly drawn, is of considerable moment. It is believed here that he and Mr. Bryan have exchanged letters on the preparedness issue.

That Mr. Bryan's pronouncement is a clear-cut challenge to President Wilson, and is to be followed by as bitter a clash as that which split the Democratic party wide open in 1896 as a view generally expressed here. It is now believed that 1916, twenty years after the original Bryan split in 1896, will witness a second Bryan split of no less serious proportions than the first.

Bitterness already is cropping out. The following in the President's speech is interpreted as referring directly to Mr. Bryan:

"If men differ with me in this vital matter I shall ask them to make it clear how far and in what way they are interested in making the permanent interests of the country safe against disturbance?"

Mr. Bryan's acceptance of that challenge was his prompt statement. As soon as he read the President's remarks he called up the newspapers and press associations and informed them he would have a statement.

Mr. Bryan, it is believed here, is laying the groundwork to run for the presidential nomination next year on a platform of peace, prohibition and opposition to big appropriations for the army and navy, with a special appeal to the German vote. He will meet Representative Claude Kitchin, Democratic leader-to-be of the House, and other opponents of preparedness here next week and the battle will be on.

President Wilson's present plan is not to make any answer to Mr. Bryan's criticism. No statement was forthcoming from the White House on the subject. Mr. Bryan's position was known by the President before he made his speech in New York last night.

The former secretary of state's statement, which reiterates views he has previously expressed on the subject of preparedness for war, was regarded as the opening gun in the fight which administration leaders expect in Congress against adoption of the plan.

MAY MEAN FUSS IN CONGRESS

William F. McCombs, Democratic National Chairman, Condemns LaFollette Seamen's Law.

SAYS IT SHOULD BE REPEALED

Calls on Democratic Members of Congress to Repudiate it—Nev-er Should Have Been Signed.

Washington, Nov. 6.—A declaration made by William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, that the LaFollette seamen's law ought never to have been enacted and his assertion that it should be repealed foreshadows a serious split in the Democratic forces in the congress, many persons here believe.

"This is the time, of all times when American shipping should be encouraged so that fresh capital would be induced to enter the shipping business," says Chairman McCombs.

This declaration is regarded here as significant, particularly in its reference to the investment of fresh capital in the shipping business for that is exactly what Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo is busying himself to prevent in this tireless advocacy of the administration ship purchase bill.

It is the general opinion in shipping circles that when the government enters the foreign marine, private capital must halt, for unless the navigation laws are radically amended no private concern can afford to stand the losses incident to the operation of American ships under the present system. The administration proposes to take money from the treasury to cover the deficit caused by operating government ships and if its purposes are to be inferred from the attitude of the secretary of commerce, it has no intention of encouraging any modification of the seamen's law by the congress. On the contrary, Secretary Redfield has taken on himself the responsibility of constraining the law in the interest of the shipping companies in the face of their own expressed opinion that the law means what it says.

As far as lies within the influence of his position, Chairman McCombs has called on the Democratic members of the congress to repudiate the LaFollette law. He does not say "modify," he says "repeal" it.

He says the law never should have been signed. If the chairman also is prepared to give countenance to the opposition to the ship purchase bill which the administration will press at the coming session, he will find a ready following in most of the Democrats of the seaboard states.

PONIES FEATURE FIRST DAY OF SHOW

Departure From Usual Rule—Society Women in Gorgeous Gowns Rival For Favor

PROFESSIONALS ENTERED

(By United Press.)
New York, Nov. 6.—Bantam high-stepping ponies, never before given much consideration among the thoroughbreds of horsemanship, have become so much the fashion that they are, together with the gorgeous gowns of the society women, a big feature of the National Horse show which opened at Madison Square Garden here today. A few years ago the ponies were not represented in a single horse show either in America or abroad.

Another departure from the rules of former horse shows is the admission of professional exhibitors to novice classes. Professionals heretofore have been excluded. The American and Canadian Hackney horse coaches have $500 prizes and gold medals for the best hackneys. The show will end Nov. 12.

RENEWSPLEDGE OF FRIENDSHIP

In Another Statement Today Bryan Asks Why he Should Not Express an Opinion.

OPPONENTS DO IT, HE SAYS

Can't Understand Why His Fealty to Wilson Should be Questioned by Democrats.

(By United Press.)
Washington, Nov. 6.—Former Secretary of State Bryan today issued another statement in which he renewed in assurances of friendship for President Wilson.

Bryan's statement was as follows:

"I have no plans formulated. I am doing what I believe to be the duty of every citizen to do. How can the president know what the people think unless individuals express themselves?"

"Those who approve of his plan do not hesitate to express themselves. Why should those who are opposed to the plan hesitate to express themselves? The editors of metropolitan newspapers who daily fling incense before the special interests do not hesitate to express an opinion as to what the country needs."

"And why should a Democrat's friendship for the president be questioned when he differs with the president on the issues like this which has nothing in the history of the country or party to commend it? The president's appeal was not to members of his party but to the people of 'all shades of opinion.'"

help eradicate the disease and because they did not care to ship their live stock over the state and expose it to the disease, the short course had to be called off.

When plans were being made for the proposed short course last February it was somewhat of a puzzle to determine where the night meetings would be held. It was practically determined when arrangements were being made that the evening sessions would have to be held in some local church. But that perplexing question has been removed with the completion of the new Graham Annex school building.

Although no advance information has been received here, it is presumed that the short course would be of three days' duration, as former courses have been. The course program consists of lectures on allied farm subjects and home economics as well as demonstrations in the various departments of the work. One of the big and interesting features of the course are the live stock lectures. Purdue ships to each short course its choicest live stock to be used as examples in the lecture and to show the points in live stock judging.

Mr. Erier was in North Vernon today where it was thought likely arrangements would be made for a short course there.

ARE HELD CONSTITUTIONAL

Kansas Supreme Court of Two Liquor Acts.

(By United Press.)
Topeka, Kansas, Nov. 6.—The supreme court today held that the Webb-Kenyon and Mann acts are constitutional, that their exercise is not a delegation of interstate commerce power. The decision means that the names of persons receiving liquor shipments in prohibition Kansas are public property.

NO RALLY TO BE HELD IN RICHMOND

Republicans There Call off District Meeting Because Senator Borah Couldn't Come.

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 6.—Plans for holding in Richmond a sixth district Republican rally have, for the time being at least, been abandoned, L. S. Bowman, Wayne county chairman, announced today.

"Perhaps later on a district rally in Richmond will be arranged, but not until we can secure a particularly well qualified man to be the principal speaker of the occasion," Mr. Bowman said.

Mr. Bowman and other party workers in the county, particularly desired to have Senator Borah of Idaho, a presidential possibility and one of the leaders of the progressive wing of the party. It had been arranged to hold a rally in this city the latter part of October with Senator Borah as the principal speaker, but when it was ascertained that he could not come to Richmond at that time the meeting was called off with the understanding that the rally would be held when Senator Borah announced he could come to this city. Mr. Bowman has now been definitely informed that it will be impossible for the senator to attend a rally here this fall, so the event has been indefinitely postponed.

BIG RECEPTION TO LIBERTY BELL

Civic And Patriotic Organizations in Indianapolis Plan Demonstration When it Arrives.

TO TRAVERSE WASHINGTON ST.

Five Grand Army Posts Are Asked to Participate in Festivities Sunday, Nov. 21

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Plans are being developed to accord the liberty bell a royal welcome when it is brought to Indianapolis Sunday night, Nov. 21. Both civic and patriotic organizations will participate.

Col. J. R. Fesler, assistant adjutant general of the G. A. R., said he expected to communicate today with the five Grand Army posts in Indianapolis and urge them to make immediate arrangements for participating. These posts are expected to name committees soon.

There has been no change in the time for arrival of the bell. The flat car on which it is carried will be switched from the railroad tracks about 7:30 p. m. to the street car tracks. The bell then will be moved slowly down Washington street as far east as East street, where the car will turn and again traverse Washington street to a point beyond White river. Ample opportunity will be given every one to see the famous bell. It will leave Indianapolis at 10:30 for Louisville.

Mayor Bell has asked the Board of Trade and the Chamber of Commerce to assist in the reception. Aquilla L. Jones, chairman; L. C. Boyd, C. C. Perry, W. J. Mooney, J. J. Appel, A. M. Glossbrenner and James H. Taylor have been named as a committee to represent the Board of Trade. The Chamber of Commerce committee soon will be named. A joint session of the committees likely will be held in the next week to perfect arrangements.

Newton McGuire, secretary-treasurer of the Sons of Veterans, said the question of that organization's participation in the affair likely would be discussed at a meeting Wednesday. Miss Tarquina L. Voss, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, said her organization desires a part in the celebration.

No arrangements have been made for participation by school children. Sunday night all school children will have an opportunity to assist.

Pay Telephone Toll.

Don't overlook to pay your telephone toll before Nov. 12 if you wish to avoid paying the 15 cents extra for collection. No notice will be given by telephone.
